Staff are locked in toilet by raiders

FOUR workers were threatened with a weapon and locked in a toilet during a robbery at a Rugeley store.

A safe was broken into and cash was taken from the Co-Op in Queensway. The ordeal happened between 5.45am and 6am on Monday.

The workers were unhurt and the Co-Op was closed, with the area sealed off while police investigations were carried out

The staff were locked in the toilet as the offenders broke into the safe and made off with an unconfirmed amount of money.

Shocked

Chief Inspector Steve Morrey said: "This type of offence is thankfully uncommon. Although shocked and distressed by what has happened, the shop's employees were unharmed."

Co-Op spokesman Sara Leung said: "Colleagues are very shaken but otherwise unharmed. We are working closely with police in their investigation."

A police cordon was put around the store and across the car park. A Fiat Punto parked outside was also included within the taped off area. The store opened at around 1.30pm.

Call Dc Paul Whitehouse on 101, quoting incident 64 of March 31.

Driver hurt in collision

A TEENAGE driver had to be taken to hospital after a three car crash in Cannock.

The smash happened on the busy A5 near Longford Island at 9pm on Monday. It involved a Seat Ibiza, BMW and Honda Civic.

The young driver was taken by ambulance to New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton with suspected back injuries. The other two drivers were uninjured.

Meanwhile, just before 6am on Tuesday, a Peugeot 306 hit a lamppost in Common Lane, Cannock.

Drugs kingpin who led police a merry dance

Drugs boss John Anslow

NOTORIOUS drugs kingpin John Anlsow led police on a merry dance, taunting them on his way.

For years he used his family connections to establish himself as one of the most feared criminals in the country – even becoming the most wanted man in Britain. It can now be revealed that Anslow:

- Spent £36,000 sponsoring Wolves matches and players.
- Splashed thousands of pounds in cash on Caribbean holidays.
- Went on the run and was found hiding in a caravan in Bewdley.
- Taunted police with postcards inferring he was in Spain.
- Travelled to Thailand to meet high-level criminal drug lords.
- Went on the run twice.

Anslow dealt in cocaine and cannabis, with one cannabis haul having a street value of £1.1 million.

After police – who bugged Anslow's flat in Bradley – charged him, Anslow escaped from a prison van and fled to northern Cyprus. More than a year later he was deported back to the UK. In his absence, the 33-year-old was sentenced to 22 years.

Anslow, cleared of murdering Richard Deakin, was an avid Wolves fan who sponsored matches and players – leading to photo slots in programmes and pitch appearances.

Realising he was wanted for questioning in relation to his drug empire, Anslow sent West Midlands Police a Spanish postcard in an attempt to convince detectives he'd fled to the continent. But officers found him lying low in a caravan park in Bewdley.

In interview Anslow claimed his opulent lifestyle was the result of a winning gambling streak that netted him £500,000.

Anslow's drugs network was wide ranging and included his uncle, David Harrison, who murdered Mr Deakin.His henchmen also included Phillip Eastwood, who received a lengthy conviction.

KILLER 'SHOULD DIE IN PRISON'

GUNMAN David Harrison is to appeal against his 37-year sentence for the murder of Chasetown businessman Richard Deakin. The victim's mother has objected to the plans, saying behind bars is exactly where he should be.

When jailed, Harrison was told he would probably die inside prison. A judge had already rejected an appeal request against his whole conviction but he will once again apply to have his case to overturn the verdict brought before top judges. His plea will be heard at the Court of Appeal in London next week.

Report by Tim Spiers

Mr Deakin's mother Carol hit out at the move. She said he was sending people on a 'fool's errand' with a 'desperate' appeal.

"They should give me the key and let me throw it in the sea," she said.

"How on earth he's got the gall to ask for his sentence to be shorter is unbelievable.

"I think there's been enough time wasted with the trial, he's sending everyone on a fool's errand.

Convicted

"Prison is exactly where he deserves to be. He deserves to die there."

Father-of-two Mr Deakin, aged 27, was blasted in the chest by a sawn-off shotgun as he lay in his own bed in Meadway Street, Chasetown in July 2010.

Harrison, aged 63 at the time, was convicted, along with getaway driver Darryl Dickens, after a six-week trial at Birmingham Crown Court in December 2012.

Dickens, also from Bilston and 34 at the time, was given a minimum of 30 years.

When passing sentence Lord Justice Roderick Evans told Harrison: "The likelihood is you will die in prison."

Addressing them both, he added: "This was a carefully planned and professionally executed contract killing."

Mrs Deakin, of Cheslyn Hay, said: "Too many lives have already been destroyed by this and why we're allowing people like Harrison to appeal is beyond me. Society is a safer place with him behind bars."

Richard and fiancee Megan had returned the night before the murder from a spa weekend at Staffordshire's Hoar Cross Hall.

Just before he was shot at around 8.30am, Mr Deakin had said goodbye to his daughters before Megan went on the school run.

Megan had picked Dickens out in an identity parade, while Harrison was identified by criminal associate Alan Cash who had seen CCTV on Crimewatch of a balaclava-clad gunman walking into Mr Deakin's home.

Lavish lifestyle revealed

Steven Fletcher collects an award from John Anslow

AS John Anslow serves 29 years behind bars, the former lavish lifestyle of the drugs boss can be revealed.

He threw around cash like confetti, blowing thousands on holidays across the globe and top-of-the-range cars.

Anslow, aged 33, who twice went on the run, spent £26,000 on Rolex watches and diamond rings, drove a £90,000 Porsche among other cars and splashed £36,000 on sponsoring players and matches at Wolves.

Drug deals ranged from a few kilos to 250kg, while £108,000 was found at the home of a close associate.

Anslow went to extreme lengths to cover his tracks. All his vehicles were registered to someone else, he didn't have a bank account and phones were changed every month or two.

Acting Detective Chief Superintendent Jo Chilton said: "He was well connected in the criminal fraternity."

New fire control sharing goes live

A SHARED fire service control room covering the West Midlands and Staffordshire has this week gone live.

Since Monday, emergency calls to the fire and rescue services are being handled by a new combined fire control centre in Birmingham.

The two organisations are merging their control rooms to share resources and cut costs. They were given £3.6 million by the Government to fund the merger.

The shared service which will operate from Vauxhall Road in Birmingham. Control staff will handle emergency calls and manage the resources sent to deal with incidents.

Safety

Alongside fire control will be the Home Safety Centre which will take on responsibility for receiving and managing calls about general home fire safety and take bookings for home safety checks.

Around 20 Staffordshire Fire Service staff have been redeployed to new jobs.

Rob Barber, director of response at Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "We will be using the latest technology which will improve efficiency and be more effective. It won't affect response times or our resource levels."

Two charged over assault

TWO Great Wyrley Boxing Club members have appeared at Stafford crown court charged with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

The charges relate to a March 9 attack on 20-year-old Joshua Morgan in Backcroft, Cannock.

Alistair Douglas, aged 24, of Longford Road, Cannock was granted conditional bail and James Robb, 21, of Langdale Green, Cannock, was remanded in custody.

The case was adjourned until June 9.

Cigarette cause of bungalow blaze

A BUNGALOW blaze that saw a woman having to be led to safety was started after a discarded cigarette ignited a bed, a fire investigation has established.

Firefighters attended the blaze in Wood Lane, Wedges Mill, near Cannock, on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 12.

A woman and a dog were rescued with the lady given first aid at the scene before being taken to Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Birmingham.

Following the results of the investigation, Carmel Warren, prevention manager for the west of the county, urged people not to smoke indoors.

She said: "Following a fire investigation we believe that this incident was an accident, caused by a cigarette being dropped onto a bed in a downstairs room. Fires such as this spread rapidly and, as in this case, can reap devastating consequences.

Dangers

"We would always discourage people from smoking inside but if you do, ensure the cigarette is completely extinguished.

"Also, think about the dangers of drinking alcohol while smoking in the house as you reactions will not be as quick, should an emergency occur.

"I would urge everyone to ensure their property is fitted with working smoke alarms and that they are tested on a weekly basis.

"If you have not had a free Home Fire Risk Check, book one as soon as possible so that any potential risks and solutions can be identified."

Errors were made by nursing body, claim

BLUNDERS were made by the nursing regulator on investigations into 17 former nurses at Mid Staffordshire Foundation Trust whose cases formed part of the Francis inquiry, it is claimed.

The Nursing and Midwifery Council looked into suspected bad practice by the nurses but dropped the disciplinary hearings at an early stage.

A Professional Standards Authority report says it had 'serious concerns' that the 'wrong decisions' may have been made by the NMC.

A series of errors was revealed, some of which could have put patients at risk, according to the report.

The NMC, responsible for regulating 673,000 nurses and midwives in the UK, has previously been accused of failing to protect patients and has admitted 'substantial failings' in the past.

Failing

The failings were shown up in an audit of 100 cases dealt with by the NMC's disciplinary committee. They included the cases of 19 nurses who worked at Mid Staffs, 17 of them relating to poor care covered by the Francis Inquiry.

The report acknowledged there had been some improvements under a new management team at the NMC but outlines a number of areas where the organisation is still failing.

It adds there is an ongoing weakness in the NMC's ability to identify for itself where improvements are needed.

The report said the errors were particularly serious given the level of public concern over poor care at Mid Staffs.

NMC chief executive Jackie Smith said the report acknowledged progress being made. But Katherine Murphy, of the Patients Association, described the findings as "deeply worrying".

Corrie actor Beside the Sea again

A THEATRE group run by a former Coronation Street actor will revisit the first play it ever staged on its latest tour.

The Opus group, run by Gerry Hinks, who has played four different roles in the soap, will visit Staffordshire with Beside the Sea.

The play, first performed by the company in 1986, follows a group of holidaymakers as they navigate holiday romance, a wedding night, and a terrifying landlady.

It will be performed at Lichfield Garrick on April 10, 11 and 12, Stafford Gatehouse on April 15, 16 and 18, and Rugeley's Rose Theatre on May 9.

Mr Hinks, from Rugeley, will direct the play. He said: "We have four fresh young actors joining us for this production, not to mention an international actress all the way from Holland.

"When bringing back a play, it's important to inject not just nostalgia, but also a certain amount of youthful vigour, so you can do justice to a play which is special to you and your audience."

Mr Hinks will star alongside Sandra Jones who appeared in the first production. For a full list of dates and venues visit www.opustheatrecompany.com

Litter fine as cigs thrown

TWO cigarettes cost a smoker more than £700 after he threw them from his car in Cannock.

He was issued with a fixed penalty notice, but after failing to pay, legal proceedings were launched and he was convicted and fined by Stafford magistrates.

He was ordered to pay £200 for each cigarette end, costs of £310 and a £20 victim surcharge.

Anguish as mother of victim in justice call

THE mother of murder victim Richard Deakin has spoken of her anguish as a notorious criminal accused of organising the killing was acquitted.

John Anslow was cleared of Richard Deakin's murder at Woolwich Crown Court.

Police spoke of their disappointment at the verdict and revealed they are not pursuing anyone else for being involved in the killing.

Anslow, from Tipton, escaped from a prison van and fled to northern Cyprus while on remand for a major drugs conspiracy and after being charged with murder.

He is currently serving 29 years in prison – 22 years fordrugs offences and more than seven years for the escape – but was unanimously cleared by jurors of being involved in the murder.

Contract killers David Harrison, Anslow's uncle, who fired the sawn-off shotgun that killed Mr Deakin in 2010, and getaway driver Darryl Dickens were convicted in 2010 and are behind bars for life.

Settle

But heartbroken mother Carol Deakin said she would not rest until whoever ordered her son's murder was behind bars.

"The case, speaking as Richard's mother, will never come to a close until the person that paid the money is sent to prison," she said.

"To me the person who should be behind bars is the person who actually ordered it.

"I will not settle until Richard has got the justice he deserves."

However Staffordshire Police chiefs are not continuing the investigation in the hunt for more suspects.

Anslow, 33, was sprung from a prison van by men armed with sledgehammers and a shotgun in January 2012.

He had recently been charged with Mr Deakin's murder and was on remand at HMP Hewell awaiting trial for conspiracy to supply cocaine and cannabis.

He was sentenced for the drugs charge in his absence in 2012 while still on the run.

Anslow was deported in March 2013 after being arrested in northern Cyprus for immigration offences, before pleading guilty to conspiracy to escape last September, receiving a sentence of seven years and two months in November.

Pain of losing son remains – four years on

Carol Deakin and son

"SOMETIMES in my head I think, he's coming home. I still can't believe it happened."

Heartbroken mother Carol Deakin still feels the pain of losing her son Richard every day.

It's been almost four years since the 27-year-old was gunned down as he lay in his bed at his Chasetown home. And distraught Carol Deakin said the moment he was killed, 8.30am on Monday, July 5, 2010, was frozen in time.

"Nobody who hasn't lived through it knows what it's like to lose a son," she said. "Every single Monday I relive it.

"Every Sunday night, when I shut the curtains I think about what's going to happen tomorrow.

"I wake up and I live me getting up, going to work, sitting at my desk and receiving that phonecall.

"I'm just there living that moment every Monday, I have done since the day he died."

After John Anslow was found not guilty of organising the killing, the seemingly endless quest for justice carries on for Carol.

She believes there are others behind the crime that have not been made to pay for killing her son.

Innocent

Carol said she often thinks of the killers' families and wonders how it has affected their lives.

"A friend of mine said to me, 'I can't believe you think about their family when they've caused you so much pain'. I say, at the end of the day children are the innocent party here and they'll be brought up with no family environment, it's been taken away from them as well and that to me is very very sad.

"And whenever I see my grandchildren I think about Richard. I think about them growing up with no daddy and it's absolutely tragic."

The heartbroken mother admitted coping with the enormous grief of his death never gets easier.

And she added:"The fight for justice keeps me going, 100 per cent."

Difficult case to crack for officers

IT was a fascinating case to crack – but also the most challenging that many officers have ever faced.

Piecing together how John Anslow escaped from custody took time, diligence and a 'painstaking investigation'.

But immediate clues were left by Anslow when he leaped out of the prison van escorting him from prison to court in January 2012.

Cling film was found in the van cell he was in, which had been used to help conceal a mobile phone in his rectum.

Back in HMP Hewell his cell contained a Christmas card, which included clues as to his whereabouts. But Anslow evaded capture for more than a year.

As a senior officer from West Mercia Police involved in the case admitted, at first it was a minefield to piece together just how Anslow had done it.

"It's certainly the most complex and detailed investigation I've been involved in," he said.

"The senior investigator added: "It would all have involved a lot of planning and there were a lot of people to be trusted."

Ordeal

Det Supt Scott Jones from Staffordshire Police said: "This has been a very challenging investigation which involved many months of extensive enquiries."

It also proved an ordeal to gain access to courtrooms and report on cases because Anslow was considered so dangerous.

Police ramped up security to almost unprecedented levels for cases he was connected with in the wake of his escape from prison.

For the murder trial of David Harrison and Darryl Dickens, held at Birmingham Crown Court in December 2012, armed police were scattered around the building, keeping watch for any suspicious behaviour.

And when Harrison and Dickens took to the stand, they were again surrounded by officers in court who were also on hand to protect exit doors.

The trial was held at Woolwich Crown Court, not in Birmingham where it had originally been listed, as the logistics of getting Anslow up the motorway from the capital to the second city were too complicated and laden with risks.

Trail goes cold in search for murder case 'Mr Big'

NO MORE suspects are being pursued for their involvement in the tragic murder of father-of-two Richard Deakin, police have revealed.

The man who had been accused of organising the murder – 33-year-old Tipton drug lord John Anslow – was last week acquitted at Woolwich Crown Court of any involvement.

Although the case is technically not closed, officers are not actively chasing anyone else in connection with Mr Deakin's death.

He was shot as he lay in his bed in Meadway Street, Chasetown, in July 2010.

Gunman David Harrison and getaway driver Darryl Dickens, both of Bilston, were convicted for their roles in December 2012.

It is widely accepted the pair were hired to carry out the murder but the hunt for the 'Mr Big' is now over. Staffordshire Police said after Anslow's acquittal that no one else was currently being investigated.

Detective Chief Inspector Darren Harding led the murder inquiry.

"At this time, we are not pursuing anyone else in relation to this case," he said. "However, should any new lines of inquiries be established or new information received it will be followed up."

The admission potentially draws a line under one of the most shocking murders the West Midlands has witnessed in recent years. It started at around 8.30 on the morning of July 5, 2010.

Shattered

Megan Deakin said goodbye to her beloved fiancé, who was awake and lying in bed, as she left the family home to take their two young daughters to school.

The engaged couple had just spent the weekend together at a hotel and returned home at 9pm the night before having picked up their daughters up from Mr Deakin's mother, Carol. Megan put the kids in the car and left.

But just a few minutes later, this picture of a happy, peaceful, idyllic family home was shattered forever. A black Vauxhall Corsa pulled up outside the house.

Witnesses had seen the car mysteriously circling the area and driving past the house, but this time it stopped and a man got out.

That man was David Harrison and he was wearing dark clothes, a black balaclava and blue latex gloves – a very forensically aware outfit lacking in unique details, an expert later said.

He opened the gate, walked to the back door, got into the house, walked to the bedroom and, with a sawn-off shotgun, opened fire. Mr Deakin, lying in bed, was shot five times, including to the chest and legs.

Harrison left the house – walking, not running – got in the Corsa and left the scene. It was carried out with the minimum of fuss and with the cold-blooded efficiency of a professional. Neighbours who saw Harrison enter the home had already phoned the police, concerned at the alarming sight of a balaclava-clad man appearing in such a quiet suburban area.

Cleared – John Anslow

Uncle – David Harrison

Jailed – Darryl Dickens

Police officers at the murder scene in Meadway Street

The getaway car used in the escape from the prison van

Calculated

Harrison was sentenced to life imprisonment, to serve a minimum of 37 years and Dickens was also sentenced to life imprisonment, to serve a minimum of 30 years.

The pair were described as 'cold blooded and calculated' by police. When sentencing Harrison and Dickens, Lord Justice Evans said: "This was a carefully planned and professionally executed contract killing. You were paid by people who are still at large. It involved people way beyond you.." As the judge had suggested, the case wasn't over.

Anslow, who at this point was on the run in Northern Cyprus, had yet to face trial.

He was already on remand for drugs offences and was awaiting trial, but police would have to wait until March this year for his murder trial to get to court, a year after he was deported back to the UK. In between his return to the UK and the trial, Anslow had pleaded guilty to conspiring to escape from custody and been sentenced to seven years and two months. Six others, four of whom also pleaded guilty, also received lengthy sentences.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

IN case you missed the latest Met Office forecast, looking at climate in Britain until 2040, let me summarise it. Summers will be hotter, except when they are colder while winters will be milder, except when they are less mild. Even the Met Office's greatest fan, the BBC, was reduced to summing it all up with a headline to treasure: "UK's future climate to be all sorts."

GOOD to see Kermit the frog entering the debate on Scottish independence (he supports the Union). My interview with the Muppets in a Birmingham hotel many years ago was a highlight of my dazzling career. I can report that Kermit is unfailingly polite and hospitable and is quite the most intelligent, thoughtful and articulate latex amphibian I have ever interviewed.

MISS Piggy, on the other hand, is a shameless hussy who flirts outrageously with reporters and hints that there is something improper going on with Kermit. I shall never forget, as Miss Piggy alleged the couple were planning a romantic weekend, the plaintive voice of Kermit: "Do not believe her. Trust the frog."

IN his EU debate with Ukip leader Nigel Farage, the deputy prime minister Nick Clegg rattled off that the EU made us "richer, stronger, safer." Richer? EU membership actually costs us £50,000 million a year. If we are wealthier than other parts of the EU it is entirely because Britain stayed out of every Euro-zealot's dream currency, the euro. Stronger? How can any EU nation be stronger when membership depends on giving up sovereignty? Safer? Has the EU's recent meddling in Ukraine made you feel particularly safe? The EU, founded as a free-trade area, is turning into one of the most imperialist and expansionist powers this world has seen, pushing its borders and its influence right into the nose of the Russia bear and leading Britain into all sorts of risks that are none of our business. The EU actually makes us poorer, weaker and worried.

MATHS for beginners. Naughty, irresponsible Mr and Mrs Bloggs take their two children on holiday to Spain in term time. The school imposes a "fine" of £100 for each child. However, while the children are away, the school is closed for one day because the teachers are on strike. How much refund can Mr and Mrs Bloggs expect?

OH, what wicked people we are, ignoring two little girls, lost and alone in a shopping centre. Vast amounts of media coverage preceded Little Girl Lost (C5) in which the two kids, aged seven and five, were told by their mother to stand in the mall to test the reactions of passers-by. Hundreds of adults ignored the pair before one elderly lady asked if they were all right. It was promoted as a shocking indictment of modern apathy and generated lots of free publicity for C5 and the NSPCC. There was the usual crop of predictable why-oh-why columns from the usual crop of predictable female hacks. And then we saw the actual footage. The little girls were clearly in no danger. They showed no real distress. Even the dimmest passer-by could see their mother and the TV producer just a few feet away. The programme makers admitted that their camera crew was clearly visible and the TV reporter referred to the event as "a stunt." Enough said.

AS my bank scratches around for another £400 million to keep it afloat, I look at the statement on my "free for life" credit card and wonder whose life it refers to. Mine or the Co-op's?

IN the debate on the future of the BBC, Lord Grade suggests the licence might be collected as part of your council tax. Perfect. And can we put the rubbish in the wheelie bins?

It is holding a public meeting tonight (Thursday) at The Rugeley Rose Community Hall and Theatre, Taylors Lane, from 6.30pm.

The public can find out more about the trust's work as well as joining in the discussion on how they can be enjoyed by all.

Charlotte Atkins, chairman of the trust's Central Shires waterway partnership said: "We want to encourage people to enjoy our waterways in a wide variety of ways but we have to be careful that this doesn't lead to conflict and risk losing what makes the waterways so attractive in the first place."

Tranquil

"The waterways are a tranquil, friendly environment and we want to ensure they stay that way despite more people wanting to enjoy them in an increasing number of ways."

Pub caught serving minors keeps licence

A CANNOCK pub whose landlady was caught in a sting operation selling alcohol to under-age customers will be allowed to keep its licence.

Officers visited The Roebuck, in Stafford Road, with volunteer customers who were served without identity checks being carried out.

Licensees Keith and Mandy Williams apologised for the blunder when they appeared before the licensing committee at Cannock Chase Council on Tuesday. They were given a formal warning.

By Marion Brennan

They agreed to carry out extra training and to tighten up its controls. Under 18s are not allowed in the pub after 9pm – but the sting took place at 10.15pm when two volunteers, aged 15 and 17, were not challenged.

Repeat

Police made an application for a review of the licence. Mrs Williams said: "I would like to apologise. Things will be done differently from now on."

Staffordshire Police licensing officer Jennifer Mellor told councillors the couple were co-operating and would be subject to a repeat visit as part of a compliance test.

She said The Roebuck was not a 'problem' venue and there had been no previous issues.

Licensing committee chairman Councillor Paul Fisher told the couple: "Selling alcohol to children is a serious matter and should not be repeated."

Meanwhile, a landlord whose staff were allegedly caught serving under-age drinkers could lose his licence after he and customers were said to have turned on police.

Back-up was called to The White Lion in Stafford Road, Huntington after licensee Thomas Dunning and punters became 'angry', it is alleged.

Police have said Mr Dunning was verbally aggressive and that drinkers were hostile. Earlier two 15-year-old girls were sent into the pub as part of a sting operation.

Police have requested serious consideration be given to removing Mr Dunning as the landlord and have asked for further conditions to be added to the licence.

A report to a licensing sub-committee the meeting being held today (Thursday) also details other incidents last year, two including complaints of noise after 2am.

Cheers as cafe relaunched

Jonathan Floyd outside Caffe Del Nino in High Green after relaunching the business

A NEW owner has taken over a cafe in Cannock at the centre of a Facebook support campaign.

Jonathan Floyd was born in Cannock and attended Sherbrook School. He has moved back to the town to take over Caffe Del Nino, in High Green.

A social media campaign was launched to keep the coffee shop open amid competition from the likes of Costa Coffee. It was previously run by brothers Paolo and Alfonso Vecchio. Mr Floyd, who moved to the Black Country nearly 30 years ago, said: "I was born in the town and went to school there, and the opportunity was right to move back.

"I was looking for a business to run and this stood out. Hopefully I can give something back to the community I grew up in."

Mr Floyd, aged 47, is running the cafe as a family business. Opening hours have been extended and there have been changes to the menu.

Jonathan added: "We want to make it homely and welcoming."

Bus shelters replaced

TWO bus shelters have been replaced as Cannock Chase Council continues its programme of environmental improvements across the district.

New shelters were installed recently in Stafford Road, Cannock, and Hednesford Road, Heath Hayes,

Councillor Diane Todd, Cannock Chase Council Town Centre Regeneration Leader, said: "We want to make our town centres attractive places for residents. Street furniture like bus shelters, benches and bins play an important part in making sure that the physical environment is clean and attractive."

Audience to choose how tale will end

YOUNGSTERS can get behind a play with a difference thanks to a workshop in Cannock.

Ambient Night Productions is presenting the playwriting workshop at the Prince of Wales Centre during the Easter half-term break. The twist in the tale is that the audience decides how it ends.

Following the same format of the popular "Choose your own adventure" story books, the workshop members will write a play that has multiple plot choices, each leading to a different finale.

Creative

Parents are invited to an informal final performance on the last day and at specific points in the play will be asked to vote to decide how the story will take shape.

This workshop promotes and develops creative thinking, writing skills and team building and takes place from April 14 to 17 at the Church Street venue.

Rehearsals are from 10am to 4pm with a show at 7.30pm on the final day. Cost is £40, but with a discount for siblings.

It is open to seven-to-11-year-olds and 12-to-18s. To book, call 01543 578762.

Apprentice star tweets news of pregnancy

Melody with her bump

A FORMER Great Wyrley schoolgirl and a former contestant on the BBC series The Apprentice is going to be a mother for the first time and has been showing off her baby bump on Twitter.

The 29-year-old former Great Wyrley Performing Arts High School pupil appeared on the 2011 series,. lasting 10 weeks on the programme.

Melody, who now lives in Warwickshire, wrote on her Facebook page: "I am beyond delighted to announce that I am pregnant!

"I know that so many of you have guessed and it's getting hard to hide it as I'm over three months pregnant now! The baby is due very close to my 30th birthday in September.

"My husband and I are beyond happy. When we found out, we were in a state of utter euphoria and feeling truly blessed.

"The feeling is difficult to put into words and I can honestly say, I have never been happier in my life than I am right now."

Melody broke the news to her friends in a rather novel way by sending out fortune cookies with a message inside that read 'We're having a baby!'.

She admitted to be suffering from nausea and has a rather large appetite, eating meals six times a day. Melody runs global consultancy firm InspirEngage Ltd.

She added: "I have been working in the youth sector since the age of 13 and InspirEngage International is my baby. It's going to be an interesting time of change going from this baby to a real baby. A journey I really look forward to."

Despite her failings in a reinvestment task on The Apprentice, Melody was described as a 'woman of exceptional ability' by business mogul Lord Sugar and herself described her stint on the hit BBC1 show as 'extremely emotional'.

Melody is one of number of contestants from the Midlands who have appeared on The Apprentice since it first aired in 2005. They include Hednesford's Kate Walsh and Wolverhampton's Ruth Badger.

Benefits cheat held £60k in a string of accounts

A BENEFITS cheat kept secret a string a bank accounts containing tens of thousands of pounds, a court heard.

Lynne Talbot from Hednesford illicitly claimed just under £20,000 in income support, housing benefit and council tax relief after falsely stating she only had £100 in savings.

Her deceit went on for six years before the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) were able to identify her undeclared funds, Stafford Crown Court heard.

Mr Ben Close, prosecuting, said Talbot had access to seven bank accounts which, although balances varied, had an estimated total of £60,000 in them.

They included a savings account containing £30,000 which produced thousands of pounds worth of interest.

Talbot, aged 59, of Brindley Road, admitted two charges of failing to declare her capital.

She was given a four month prison sentence, suspended for two years because of her 'age and health'.

Dishonest

Recorder Mr Mark Wall QC said: "This isn't a case where you just sat back and allowed money to flow in, you had to make misleading and dishonest statements to continue the flow of money to you."

The judge also ordered Talbot to pay back a total of £19,902 to the DWP.

Mr Rob Perry, defending, said Talbot had a number of medical problems and was currently receiving disability allowance.

He said she had not spent her money on holidays, cars or houses. "The money has been used for genuine day to day living expenses," he added.

Cake sale at vets will aid charity

STAFF at a Great Wyrley vets will spend their weekend baking ahead of a fund-raising sale.

The team from 387 Veterinary Centre in Walsall Road are fundraising for the Cinnamon Trust, a national charity for the elderly and terminally ill and their pets, as part of National Pet Month which is 25 years old. They are holding a home-baking sale on Monday, April 7.

Practice manager Rachel Duncan said: "Each member of our nine-strong team will be baking something different, and treats on the menu include peanut butter and M&M cookies, flapjacks, butterfly cupcakes and an oaty-topped rhubarb tray bake.

"The practice will be open from 8am for buying lunchbox and coffee time treats."

Last April, 387 Veterinary Centre donated more than £350 to two animal charities. Clients were asked to vote in support of either Pets as Therapy (PAT) or The Cinnamon Trust. The practice donated 50p for every vote placed.

Dads group looks for funding support

A SUPPORT group for families set up 18 months ago is desperate for donations of unwanted items it can sell on to boost funds.

Volunteers from Dads And Disabilities Support (DADS) want to raise £100,000 to fund a specialist centre for children with 'hidden' disabilities and special needs.

So far they have managed to raise more than £5,000 by selling unwanted furniture, clothes and other items from a unit at Birch Business Park in Progress Drive, Bridgtown. Another base is being opened up at the business park where it will be hosting coffee mornings and craft sessions. But £100,000 is still needed to fund for a specialist centre.

Car boot sales are regularly held at the Avon Business & Leisure Centre inCannock and new weekly sales will start at Longford Social Club, in Longford Road, on April 19.

Spokesman Kate Griffin said: "We are trying to raise £100,000 to open an out-reach centre." Eighty families currently use the charity, which was set up by Andy Aldred and Steve Tunas to create a one-stop-shop for children and families with serious conditions.

Mr Aldred's five-year-old daughter Cody has conditions including chronic lung disease, autism, hypermobility, and asthma.

To donate call Mr Aldred on 07522 106195 or go to www.dadssupported.org or to view items on sale go to 'DADS Selling Page' on Facebook.

IN MY VIEW

WITH MARK ANDREWS

JOSIE Cunningham, some people may remember, was the 'model' who received £4,800 worth of breast enhancements on the NHS, because her slimline figure was 'ruining her life'.

Reportedly, she showed off her new profile by posing topless in a national newspaper, but I must have missed the pictures.

Which is a shame really. After all, you should never pay for something without having a good look at what you're getting for your money.

Anyway, Josie now appears to have had a change of heart. Not only is she hoping to have the operation reversed, she also says she will be suing the NHS for clinical negligence and emotional distress.

This truly is beyond parody.

The latest instalment in this rather tawdry soap opera is that Josie has now become pregnant during her new career as a prostitute.

Well, I suppose you might as well put your capital to work. Perhaps she should have bought her new assets through the Enterprise Allowance Scheme.

In the meantime, an operation that would enable Staffordshire schoolboy Ben Baddeley to walk has been cancelled by the NHS due to a lack of funds.

Thankfully, Ben will get the treatment which will transform his life. Donations have poured in from the general public, including an anonymous benefactor who has stepped in to fund the bulk of the £20,000 cost of the treatment.

At the same time, former Black Country police chief Mike Collins - still working as an advanced driving examiner at the age of 82 - is collecting money to help pay for the physiotherapy Ben will need once he has had his operation.

If you are able to help, donations can be made on the website www.justgiving.com/yimby/benpainfreeforlife2

And in the meantime, maybe it is time for a long, hard look at what the National Health Service exists for.

WHAT is the first thing that comes into your mind every time you see disgraced former Fifa chief on television?

Do you feel a sense of outrage at how this ridiculous figure has turned the world football governing body into a laughing stock while lining his own pockets? Or maybe, like me, you wonder if he is going to utter Dixon of Dock Green's catchphrase, 'evenin' all'.

In the same way that every time the director of award winning movie 12 Years a Slave appears on television, my first thought is not 'what a talented fellow this chappie is'.

But rather 'That is not Steve McQueen!'.

An old Pathe film about the driving test

The number of cars on the roads is now much higher

The cars we drive now are very different

Eighty years of the driving test

It's the test that even now remains one of our most defining moments as TIM WALTERS reports

IT has spawned hundreds of TV sitcom moments, made household names of those who spectacularly fail to achieve it and remains one of the defining moments in any adolescent life.

Without it we would probably have even more road rage, while it's a fair bet that there would be carnage most days on the roads.

Eighty years ago the government decided that it would be a good idea to introduce the driving test. It might be hated by those who've failed it, but, on reflection, it's easy to see why the authorities took this radical step.

Consequences

The early years of the 1930s had seen a 50 per cent increase in the number of cars on Britain's roads – up to 1.5 million. But that increase came with consequences. By 1934 there were more than 7,000 deaths a year on the roads, more than half of them pedestrians – more than twice the present figure when traffic levels are more than 12 times higher.

It was time for action. The government brought in the snappily-named Road Traffic Act (1934), introduced by the Minister of Transport Leslie Hore-Belisha. Among the clauses in the act was the reintroduction of a speed limit for cars, of 30 mph in built-up areas, reversing the removal of speed limits only four years earlier.

It also made the UK driving test compulsory for all new drivers.A number of other new measures were introduced in the 30s.

The Highway Code was introduced for the first time, drivers had to be aged at least 17, Belisha beacons (named after the aforementioned Transport Minister) were set up on pedestrian crossings, 'cat's eyes' were invented and learner drivers were required to put up L-plates. But it was the test that had the greatest impact on drivers.

Maureen Rees' continual driving test failures made her famous

So it was that the previously anonymous Mr R E L Beene, from Kensington in London, took his place in history when he became the first person to take (and pass) his test in March 1935.

Mr Beene paid the grand total of 7/6p (or 37.5p in modern money) for the privilege. Today we pay £31 for the driving theory test, and £62 for the weekday practical test. That's inflation in anyone's language.

He was in fact taking the test voluntarily, as compulsory testing only began on June 1 the same year. He would not have started from a test centre, as there were none at that time.

The test had an immediate impact. Within three years the death toll on the roads had fallen to below 6,000, although it is by no means surprising that the impact was not greater, as those who bought their licences before April 1, 1934, never had to take a test. Those 80 years have seen massive changes in the test, not least in the success rates.

In 1935, the pass rate was 63 per cent. The most recent figures suggest that it has fallen to below 45 per cent.

Initially it was possible to pass a test on a motorbike with no reason to retake it when driving a car. There were no seat belts to fasten in the 1930s. They didn't appear until the 1950s.

Rather than a Star Trek-style dashboard of controls and switches, there were tests in arm signals out of the window. They were only withdrawn from the test in 1975.

The theory test was introduced in 1996, replacing questions about the Highway Code during the practical test. Other recent additions include a 'hazard perception' test in 2002 and questions about vehicle safety and maintenance in September 2003.

Notoriety

Just about everyone can tell you how many attempts it took them to pass the test. Those who pass the first time wear it like a badge of honour, although there are others who have gained fame and notoriety for their inability to succeed.

Perhaps the most famous became the first reality TV star. Maureen Rees was the star of BBC docusoap Driving School. Before the series Maureen had spent hundreds of pounds on lessons while also failing the practical test several times. She failed to pass the test another two times during the series, as well as the written theory exam.

Her most memorable moments included accidentally running over husband Dave's foot.

Eventually she passed in an automatic and capitalised on her new-found celebrity by releasing a cover of the Madness single Driving In My Car, which reached the dizzy heights of number 50 in the UK charts.

Poorest are paying price

IAIN Duncan Smith has promised to get to grips with Britain's benefits culture, and make sure that work pays.

Local councils across the West Midlands warn they will have to make tough decisions and cut services as they seek to balance the books.

And then, caught somewhere in the middle, are the children of some of the poorest families, according to Children's Commissioner for England Maggie Atkinson.

"The poorest families, and therefore their children, are paying the price now," she says.

"We did in-depth analysis on the welfare bill. Families, parents with children, especially where there was already economic pressure on the households, would be ill-served by the welfare reforms."

Atkinson says not only are families on low incomes being hit by cuts to social security benefits, but library closures and reductions in leisure spending are also hitting the young.

In an interview with Total Politics magazine, the commissioner says local government cuts had also hit after-school and holiday clubs for children.

Atkinson says Work and Pensions Secretary Iain Duncan Smith's welfare shake-up, part of the Government's efforts to cut the deficit and encourage people who can work to take a job, had 'not served families well'.

Impact

"I recognise, and our assessment recognises, that for some families Universal Credit would do good, would help them to make their money go further. But even with those effects we were adamant, and I remain adamant, that the welfare reforms have not served families well."

The commissioner says the impact of the Government's austerity measures on children are not confined to the welfare reforms.

"Future generations coming down the line may well have a better time of it, but there are children now who are paying the price in England, not only for the reduction in welfare spending, but in libraries, in leisure facilities, in early intervention, in after-school clubs or holiday clubs.

"All those things have been under such pressure in local government that many of them have stopped doing them. And that isn't just an urban issue."

Atkinson is no stranger to controversy. In 2010 Denise Fergus, the mother of murdered two-year-old James Bulger, called for Atkinson to be sacked over her comments about the two boys who murdered her son. While saying the murder was 'exceptionally unpleasant', Atkinson said she thought they were too young at 10 years old to be tried for his murder.

Just sweet for fight fans as Sugar Ray visits

HE once forced an opponent to call out 'No Mas' on his way to landing the WBC welterweight title, but fight fans were left shouting for more when a legendary boxer appeared in Cannock.

Sugar Ray Leonard set the sport alight for more than a decade, winning world titles at five different weights after landing a gold medal during his amateur days in the 1976 Olympics.

Last Thursday night the 57-year-old addressed a sell-out audience of 300 people in the Premier Suite at Cannock's Bar Sport.

The American, named Boxer of the Decade for the 1980s, was interviewed on stage by Shropshire boxing legend Richie Woodhall, himself a former champion. Woodhall in fact had landed the WBC super middleweight title once held by Sugar Ray 16 years ago to the day.

Sugar Ray with Vonnie Knight from Stafford and Sarah Badger of Willenhall

Boxing legend Sugar Ray Leonard with fellow champ Richie Woodhall

Highlights

Describing himself as 'tired but happy to be here' after flying in from Ireland earlier in the day, Sugar Ray entertained with tales of his many career highlights, including the 'No Mas' fight in 1980 when he beat the great Roberto Durán.

Evander Holyfield appeared at the venue last year and owner Scott Murray, himself a former amateur boxer, said: "We have had some big names over the years but to get Sugar Ray here just about tops them all.

"He's one of those idols most boxing fans think they will never get the chance to meet.

"It is almost surreal to get someone of his stature to our little town."

The fighter, who now mixes television work with his role as a motivational speaker, spent an hour posing for photographs with fans before taking the stage.

The crowd, who had paid between £45 and £175 for tickets, were also entertained by comic John Stiles, son of former Manchester United and England legend Nobby.

Meanwhile, fight fans are in for a knockout night as The Premier Suite hosts a evening of amateur boxing next Thursday, April 10.

The black tie event will comprise eight fights featuring boxers from clubs across the Midlands, together with a five-course meal and comedian. Tickets are £55 for ringside or £42.50 standard and the event begins at 7pm. Call 01543 572092 or emailing info@premier-suite.co.uk

No surprise as plans go through

NO one was surprised when the County Council cabinet decided to ignore public opinion and nodded through plans to decimate the youth service in Staffordshire.

Every time the County Council goes through "consultation" they ignore any result they do not like. The same happened with the day centres and the same will happen with the libraries.

This does not stop us from fighting to save our services. The short-sighted cut, cut, cut policy will leave vulnerable people at risk and increase the danger of anti-social behaviour.

The council is even planning to turn off the street lights, but a senior Tory councillor said: "Reducing the use of street lighting between midnight and 5am, in certain areas, can benefit local communities."

How? By making things easier for criminals? By making people feel even less safe after dark?

Help on signs of sexual exploitation

AS a parent you love your child and want to protect them. You want them to be happy and safe as they grow up and make friends.

But imagine how you would feel if you discovered your child was being sexually exploited. You would want them to trust you so that you could help make it stop.

Barnardo's has launched a hard-hitting TV advert to raise awareness of child sexual exploitation.

We want parents to be alive to the tell-tale signs that their children may be vulnerable to abuse. Hundreds of young people are unwittingly putting themselves at risk every month and a survey of Barnardo's specialist services has shown that many are being groomed and exploited online and are going missing from home or care every month.

Young people are being targeted through a variety of mediums including social networks like Facebook, instant messaging and photo sharing apps.

These shocking findings serve as a reminder of the importance of being aware of the signs of child sexual exploitation. We want all parents and carers to feel comfortable talking to their children about this difficult subject, helping them to stay safe online and in their everyday lives.

Barnardo's is here to help. If you are concerned that your child is at risk of sexual exploitation you may want to contact one of Barnardo's services for advice. Please call our supporter careline on 0800 008 7005.

Going back to days of the Pony Express

RECENTLY I attempted to post a letter via the counter service at Cannock Post Office. As it was a large envelope I needed to check on the postage payable.

There were only two staff at the five counters and they were dealing with customers on protracted postage business. After a 20-minute wait I and I am sure the ever expanding queue through WHSmith also found the wait as frustrating as I did. In fact I struck up a friendly conversation with a fellow sufferer.

Eventually I was served by the manager and expressed my dissatisfaction with the service.

Now if moving from the larger Church Street premises and privatising the Royal Mail is considered as progress then we are going back to the postal Stone Age. Bring back the pony express.

Splitting vote lets in Labour

SO here we have the bi-weekly letter from our local UKIP campaigner Mr Wiggin (Chronicle, March 6).

Don't get me wrong I am no great fan of Mr Burley but I am a Tory supporter and just when we see the green shoots of economic recovery we get UKIP coming along. They have no chance of getting elected but every chance of splitting the vote thus possibly letting in the economic vandals known as the Labour Party.

Before Mr Wiggin starts questioning Aidan Burley and his dedication it might be worth looking at the three UKIP members on Cannock Council all of whom I understand were elected as Tories only to jump ship rather than resigning and fighting their seat for their new party at the next election. Is that the sort of dedication UKIP show to the electors who put them there?

No reply given on question put to MP

IN The Chronicle of March 20, both Aidan Burley MP and caseworker James Moffat stated there was no backlog of responses to correspondence. I beg to differ.

I emailed Mr Burley on November 24 regarding a statement he made about the siting of the Rugeley Miners' Memorial. I pointed out some information that was inaccurate and detailed concerns I had about some of Rugeley Town Council's actions at that time.

I also asked Mr Burley some direct questions for specific information relating to the planned memorial which required answers. To date, other than an automated response to my original email which I received on November 24 stating I should have a reply within 28 days, I have never received any reply from either Mr Burley or his office.

Given that I had taken the time to write to my MP I should have at least received a reply. So perhaps, in future, Mr Burley and his office should ensure that responses have been made to all correspondence from constituents, before making the claim that there has never been a backlog.

ON behalf of the Burntwood, Cannock and Lichfield branch of the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association I would like to say thank you to the staff for their co-operation and all the people who so kindly donated to our fundraising collection held at Morrisons, Rugeley on March 14 and 15. Son so grateful for mother's gift of life

FORTY-FIVE years after giving birth to him, Nathan Black's mother Adrianne has given him life for a second time – by donating one of her kidneys.

The pair are now back home after undergoing operations and Mr Black says he is hoping to get back to normality thanks to his 'amazing' mother's gift. Both had the surgery on the same day last month.

Mr Black, of Lichfield Road, Burntwood, said: "Mum went down to theatre first at 11am and had her kidney taken out and the doctors called me down at 2pm to put it in me.

"I am so grateful. She is an amazing woman and I am very proud of her."

The father-of-three has been told his body is reacting well to the new organ and he will only have to attend hospital appointments once a week for a check-up.

Lazy

He said: "The procedure went really well. Mum was only in hospital for 48 hours and has since recovered at home.

"I was kept in for 10 days however, because there were a few complications. The kidney became lazy and while it started to work well at first, it was not clearing toxins out of my blood, which is usually the early sign of rejection.

"I was closely monitored and I was having blood taken up to three times a day and although it was frustrating having lots of tests, I knew that it had to be done."

He still faces a nervous wait for final confirmation that the operation has been a success and he will continue to be monitored for the next six months.

Nathan Black from Burntwood had a kidney transplant from his mum , Adri-

Mrs Black, aged 70, said: "It is something I would do again in a heartbeat just like any other mother because Nathan is so much brighter and well within himself. A huge weight has lifted off all of our shoulders."

Mr Black's kidneys began to fail in 2005 when he picked up a disease that went undiagnosed and a year ago he was put on dialysis.

Mr Black,from Brownhills, attended Samuel Johnson Community Hospital in Lichfield for five hours at a time to receive treatment and was unable to work as a result.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Bradley's star turn at talent contest

Contestants line up with the judges for the annual event with MC Councillor Kath Perry and organiser Alan Kelsey

TEENAGE singer Bradley Turner proved Great Wyrley Carnival's Got Talent at an annual contest.

The 16-year-old beat off tough competition to win first prize at Great Wyrley Performing Arts High School. Judges Diana Gunn, Pauline Gooch and Ian Smith were unable to split the runners-up as singer/guitarist Amber Perry, aged 14, shared second place with belly dancer Amelia Edwards, 20.

The contest is open to anyone living within Great Wyrley and Cheslyn Hay or who goes to any school in the two villages. First prize was £100 and a trophy. There was also a Young Winner's award which went to Ryma Picken, Kelsey Taylor, Chloe Mason, and Holly Hayes, members of the Dance Dimension troupe. Last year's winner Luke Williams sang as guest artist.

Pauline Kelsey, of Great Wyrley carnival committee, said: "There was plenty of talent with a variety of acts."

This year's carnival is on Saturday, June 28.

The carnival committee is also supporting the St George's Day procession from noon on April 19, followed by a fete from 2-4pm at Harrisons Sports and Social Club, Wharwell Lane.

Jobs joy at new-look pub

TWENTY five jobs have been created at a Rugeley pub that is set to reopen today (Thursday).

The Horns in Slitting Mill is being re-launched following a joint investment of £350,000 by new licensees Steve and Marie Barns in partnership with Punch Taverns.

The pub was closed for five weeks while the refurbishment was carried out. It has been redecorated throughout to create a rustic feel. A new patio area has also been created for customers to enjoy the views over Cannock Chase.

Potential

A new menu is being introduced featuring a selection of homemade British food, locally-sourced.

For licensees Steve and Marie, this is their fifth Punch pub. Marie said: "We could see so much potential in this village pub.

"We want the Horns to be a home from home and we have retained some of the original features, such as the open fires, to create a warm and cosy atmosphere."

Stuart Plant, Punch Taverns' senior partnership development manager, said: "Everyone is really pleased with the transformation."

Charlie takes lead role at dog show

Millie Edwards, aged 13, from Heath Hayes and her dog Charlie, who were selected to go to Crufts

A 13-year-old schoolgirl wowed dog lovers and experts when she starred at Crufts.

Norton Canes High school pupil Millie Edwards took part in displays at the world's largest dog show with her family pet Charlie the cocker spaniel. She joined members of the Rawnsley-based Prospectors Canine Training Club at the NEC.

Millie featured as part of a display over two days where she instructed five-year-old Charlie as if he was being examined by a vet.

Her mother Julie, of Wimblebury, said: "Millie was very excited to be selected. Millie found the experience amazing."

Millie had to get special permission from the Kennel Club to miss a day of school while the show was taking place.

Hopes over beauty spot on change of owners

A BEAUTY spot can become a top destination for families once again now the ownership of the site has changed hands, according to a councillor.

Staffordshire County Council took over the running of Chasewater Country Park near Burntwood, fromLichfield District on Tuesday, April 1.

Bosses say a raft of improvements are planned for the site.

Burntwood North County Councillor Sue Woodward says investment at the site off the park off Pool Lane is badly needed.

She said: "Chasewater is a great local asset, right on our doorstep but has suffered from a lack of investment in its facilities over recent years.

by Laura Blyth

Access

"I am pleased that Staffordshire County Council has some exciting plans for the area to be developed into a country park which will bring new leisure opportunities as well as, hopefully, new jobs to the area.

"We need though to look at better access to Chasewater from Burntwood. It's right next to the town and easy to get to on foot but we need easier parking and better transport links. It's a real jewel in the crown."

Among the planned improvements is a shuttle bus to take families to the park during the school holidays and special family-friendly events for the summer.

Details of further improvements are not yet known. The park is set across 890 acres, with a reservoir at its heart.

Lichfield District Council inherited the country park in 1994 following a local authority boundary change.

County Council spokesman Niall Mcphilemy said: "We don't have details yet of exactly what is planned for the site."

Nicola and John Hartshorne, of Hednesford, and their son Henry

Family fundraising for special helmet

A MOTHER-of-four is organising a special event to raise cash for a £2,000 helmet for her son.

Henry Hartshorne, of Hednesford suffers from plagiocephaly – flat head syndrome – and has already started wearing the new helmet to help re-shape his head.

The 11-month old, who has a twin brother Sebastian, developed the condition after being born with torticollis, meaning his head would get stuck when he turned a certain way.

He has to wear the helmet for 23 hours a day, only taking it off for half an hour in the morning and at bath time.

But now his parents, Nicola and John, hope to raise the cash to pay the company who have kindly donated the helmet early.

Mrs Hartshorne, 33, said: "When Henry and Sebastian were in the womb there wasn't much room and it seems that Sebastian was being a bit of a starfish and pushed his brother out of the way.

"After lots of physiotherapy, his condition didn't improve and when we went to see a consultant at New Cross Hospital, he told us that his head wouldn't go back to normal size on its own.

"That's when we found out about the helmet from a company called Technology in Motion and thankfully they gave us one before we had the cash to pay them.

"If I had the money I would hand it over now but I don't so that is why my husband John and I are organising events and fund-raising."

Raffle

The couple have organised a cake and craft sale at the Hen House in Eskrett Street, next Thursday, April 10 at 7pm. There will also be a raffle.

Mrs Hartshorne added: "So far we have received £300 in donations through my Just Giving page but we still have a long way to go.

"I hope to bring Henry along because he is such a happy chappy. He just takes it all in his stride."

A happy end to tail after salon switch

Jamie-Leigh Prince and her mother Jacqui Butler at Starbarks in Cannock with Pippin the dog

A MOTHER and daughter hairdressing duo who have branched out into the pet world have scooped an award for their dog grooming salon.

Jamie Leigh Prince, aged 24, set up Starbarks with the help of her mother Jacqui Butler through a shared love of dogs.

The pair, who used to be hairdressers, launched the business after seeing a gap the market and now business website the Best of Cannock has named the firm best Local and Loved Dog Grooming Salon. They marked their first anniversary this week.

Mrs Butler, aged 46, said: "The award is voted for by clients which makes it even more special."

The mother and daughter duo set up their salon in the back garden of their home in Lansbury Drive, Cannock.

Developer named for building of 142 homes

BOSSES have revealed work to build the first new council houses in Cannock for 25 years will start later this year as part of a £20 million project.

A developer has been appointed for the development of 142 homes in the Moss Road estate in Chadsmoor. It will comprise 65 council properties.

Keepmoat have been appointed and council chiefs say work will finally get under way later this year.

The project will replace 170 outdated 'Reema' flats.

There will be 20 houses for shared ownership, while 57 will be sold by Keepmoat.

by Adam Burling

Income

The £20m scheme will be paid for by the council and Keepmoat. Some £4.3m will come from the council through housing income capital funds.

An extra £2m of funding on top of the council's £4.3m was provided by British Gas towards external insulation of properties.

Councillor Frank Allen, housing portfolio leader, said: "I am delighted the council will be progressing this exciting scheme with Keepmoat and am looking forward to starting the construction of the first new council houses for 25 years.

"As well as 142 brand new homes and environmental improvements, I'm also delighted that the scheme includes employment and training opportunities."

Paul Degg, new build managing director for Keepmoat in the Midlands, said: "Building high-quality new homes is key for continuing to deliver regeneration to the Moss Road Estate.

"Keepmoat is very excited about being involved in this scheme to bring aspirational and affordable new homes to the Moss Road Estate – the first new council houses in the area for a quarter of a century."

RUGELEY LIONS

MEMBERS of Rugeley Lions Club were to be found outside Tesco demonstrating to people what members do to help the community while also enjoying each other's company.

The club is seeking civic-minded men and women to join them in making a difference in the community. It hopes enough people will show an interest to allow it to host an information session for people who want to learn more about the club and its work.

Club president Tim Burgin said: "Our club gives members an opportunity to advance worthy causes, serve with friends, and become leaders in the community.

"This club means a lot to our Lions, but it means so much more to the people we serve.

"We want to share the great things we're doing in the community, and let others know how they can help."

While at Tesco, members, assisted by students of Fair Oak who are being supported by Rugeley Lions on an educational trip to Peru, also held a collection for the Lions Disaster Fund helping communities affected by theUK flooding crisis, providing vital assistance.

It raised £154 and the club was able to send for £500 to the fund. It thanked those who donated.

To learn more about the club go to www.rugeley-lions.co.uk or e-mail rugeleylions@yahoo.co or telephone 08458332904 or go to their Facebook page.

HAYES GREEN WI

HAYES Green WI is keeping up the national trend,with membership increasing month by month.

At last month's meeting another two women joined.

Everyone was greeted by Mrs Sandy Hobbs, president, and the usual formalities were attended, before the "fun" began. It was a social evening and several ladies had taken the theme "Vicars and Tarts" very seriously (also causing much hilarity). What good sports.

Games followed – again they were very enjoyable, and brought out the competitive side in everyone.

After refreshments, Mrs Diane Bevan again listed forthcoming trips – a busy time ahead.

The annual jumble sale will be held at Bourne Methodist Church, Heath Hayes, this Saturday, April 5

Mrs Hobbs closed the meeting and wished everyone a safe journey home.

Mum's the word as Susie takes star award

A PARENT was given an early Mother's Day gift when she was named as Cannock Shopping Centre's Star Mum.

Linda Hopkins, shopping centre administrator, presented Susie Morris with the timely engraved award, together with vouchers from Crazy Daisy and Argos, last Wednesday , March 26.

After receiving a number of nominations Susie, from Cannock, was chosen as the latest winner of the Cannock Shopping Centre Star Awards, part of the centre's ongoing search for unsung heroes.

Suzie Morris is handed the award by Linda Hopkins as husband Jonathan and daughter Alicia look on Susie was nominated by her husband Jonathan because of her strength, courage and determination.

In January 2012 Susie gave birth to her daughter Alicia by emergency caesarean. Alicia was born prematurely and was rushed into the neo-natal unit of Stafford Hospital with extremely low calcium and potassium levels. It was later found that Alicia had a hole in her heart and needed an operation.

Turmoil

Throughout the turmoil, Susie remained strong, even when Jonathan's mother was diagnosed with cancer and later passed away just two months later.

Jonathan said she had been a pillar of strength for not only her daughter but also for him and the entire family.

Susie said: "I was so surprised to hear that my husband nominated me and even more surprised to hear that I had won.

"The other mothers nominated sounded like such incredible women and I am touched that I was chosen as the Star Mum. My husband and I work together as a team to get through life's struggles.

"My daughter is my world and I would do absolutely anything for her. I was overwhelmed by the response that the Star Awards got and would like to thank everybody who voted for me."

Shopping centre manager Natal Chapman said: "It was a tough choice just to pick the top three.

"The response we had to these latest Star Awards was very impressive and it really goes to show that there are some truly fantastic mums out there."

Children pitch in for visit to Warriors home

CHILDREN from a Rugeley school had the chance to play and watch rugby on the professional stage when they visited Sixways Stadium, the home of Worcester Warriors.

Pupils from Chase View Primary were joined by St John Bosco Catholic Primary School in West Bromwich as guests at the Warriors' match against London Wasps.

Children from both schools have been practising rugby in their PE lessons.

The youngsters were introduced to some of the players before the match and watched the first half before getting into full kits to take to the pitch themselves in the half-time break.

Both schools then took part in a tag rugby, non-contact, match in front of the near-capacity crowd. Chase View won 10-9, including five tries from captain Jake Cartwright

Teacher Paul Mobberley said: "The main thing about the experience for both schools was the opportunity to play in such superb surroundings and in front of such a huge crowd.

Incredible

"For children usually used to playing on a school field in front of a handful of people this was just incredible and no-one was overawed and the game played in a great sporting manner,. They also met some of the players who signed autographs."

Firms shell out to rehome tortoises

Sam Ashby with a leopard tortoise

LEOPARD tortoises housed at South Staffordshire College's animal zone have moved to pastures new.

Thanks to the generosity of local and national building supplies companies, the animals have moved to a purpose-built pad within the Rodbaston site.

Project costs were kept to a minimum, with materials supplied free of charge from a host of businesses. Building work was started by young construction apprentices from the Rugeley area and completed by construction students from South Staffordshire College's Tamworth Campus, with the support of lecturers and under the supervision of construction technician Andy Ecclestone.

A college spokesman said: "As inmates Miranda, Samantha, Grumpy, Trouble and Dot originate from the Seychelles, Madagascar or Ecuador they like to be warm and the new accommodation will make it much easier to supply all of their needs into the future. Leopard tortoises can live to a ripe old age and they are now looking forward to a long, cosy and happy life in their new home."

Visitors are welcome to see the tortoises and the other 750 creatures at the animal zone. The Visitor Centre is open at weekends and during school holidays.

Potholes on the road to repair in £2m project

AROUND 7,000 extra potholes are to be repaired across Staffordshire as part of a £2.1 million package of investment in the county's roads, it has been revealed.

Staffordshire County Council announced it was also drafting in two extra pothole-blitzing machines – in addition to the two already out tackling potholes and improving road surfaces in the county.

The spring improvements follow a Government cash injection to tackle road defects following the wettest winter on record in parts of the country.

The county council was awarded £2,131,285 to be spent by the summer to carry out repairs and fix potholes on the county's road network.

by Rob Golledge

Identified

It means another 400 potholes a week will be repaired on top of the 300 currently worked on each week.

Councillor Simon Tagg, Cabinet Support Member for Transport and Connected County said the one-off payment would help clear a backlog of identified defects, but wouldn't prevent further potholes.

He said: "An effective, well-maintained and safe road network in Staffordshire is key to bringing jobs and prosperity to the county and the extra money will help us tackle more potholes over the coming weeks.

"Maintaining and improving roads is an on-going challenge.

"Our highways crews currently fix more than 300 potholes a week and we plan to use the extra money to tackle more potholes and also carry out more resurfacing in "hotspot" areas."

The two extra machines use high velocity patching and can tackle stretches of defects and are particularly effective on more rural, less constructed roads.

Feeding time for lambs takes some bleating

THE sunshine brought out the crowds for a lambing event at South Staffordshire College's Animal Zone near Penkridge.

Excited children and adults were able to get up close and feed newly born lambs in the first of two open days at the Rodbaston campus.

Visitor centre supervisor Julie Burdett said she was delighted to see so many people turn out for the day to help bottle-feed the new arrivals.

She said: "It is an event we put on every year and it is always very successful with lots of people coming along and joining in the fun.

"Some of the students volunteered to help ensure the days run smoothly which goes to show how dedicated they are.

"It's not every day that you can get close to such beautiful animals so a lot of parents bring their children so they have that opportunity.

Ella Barnett, aged 10, at the lambing event at Rodbaston College's Animal Zone

Repeated

"It is really magical to see the children's faces light up and we are looking forward to doing it all again."

The event was repeated at the Animal Zone last weekend.

During the two-day event, visitors were able to meet a herd of pedigree Hereford suckler cows who have begun calving alongside the 650 other resident animals.

Miss Burdett added: "We have a huge variety of animals including meerkats, iguanas, snakes and wallabies in the zoo which is only open to the public at weekends and during school holidays.

"There is always lots to do and see here and it's a great day out."

Hero soldier's letters home brought to book

A BOOK of letters from a hero soldier to his parents back home is being re-published to mark 100 years since the start of the Great War.

MEMORY LANE
by Marion Brennan

Second Lieutenant Richard Byrd Levett was just 19 when he was accidentally felled by a British artillery shell in an assault on the town of Irles in northern France on March 14, 1917.

He had made the journey from Staffordshire less than three months earlier.

Known as Dick, he was brought up at Milford Hall, a privately-owned 18th century mansion on the edge of Cannock Chase, along with his sister Dyonese, by loving parents.

He was sent away to Eton at a young age and began writing home, a practice he kept up when he went to Oxford University and later to Sandhurst where he did his officer training.

He continued to write home after arriving in France with the King's Royal Rifle Corps in December 1916. The letters provide an insight into the privileges afforded by his background, even in war, but also his devotion to his men, most of them older and more experienced in life than he was.

Like all officers, he had a batman or servant who looked after his uniform and equipment, acted as a runner conveying orders, drove him around and acted as a bodyguard in combat.

When Lt Levett died, his servant, Rifleman Farndon, wrote a moving letter to his mother at Milford Hall telling her how he had fallen and paying tribute to him as a soldier.

Maud Levett, an author of several books on religious and spiritual topics, filed his moving words with all the correspondence from her son over the years and had the letters published privately, for circulation among family members and friends only.

Now Letters of an English Boy is to be re-published and will go on general sale in May as part of the First World War centenary commemorations.

When the war was over, in September 1919, Maud and Dyonese made a pilgrimage to France to see the place where Lt Levett died and was buried.

His parents erected a marble effigy in his honour at St Thomas's Church in nearby Walton-on-the-Hill. The tomb displays the Levett coat-of-arms and shows him laid out in uniform with his cap at his feet.

Material

Letters of an English Boy is being published by Berkswich History Society who have been granted permission to reproduce the material by Dyonese's grandson Richard Haszard, who now lives at Milford Hall.

A new book, Berkswich - Memories of the Great War, telling the stories of those who were left behind, will also be available for the first time. The books will be launched at 11am on May 5 at St Thomas's Church. There will also be a display of photographs and First World War Memorabilia.

Ann's smile puts her in top gear

WILLENHALL'S Ann Skitt retrieves her bike from the garage, deftly fixes a slipped chain, and is ready "to go anywhere."

A young–at-heart 75-year-old, she oozes charisma and charm, still goes to the gym "when she needs to shed a few pounds" and is the life and soul of the party at her local Young At Heart Club where she is a volunteer worker.

It's hard to imagine that his retired assembly worker could ever be knocked back. But failing teeth "became an embarrassment," she recalls. Recently she was fitted with implant-retained dentures, inspired by a newspaper article on Steven Burchell's work at the Denture Clinic.

She says: "You don't realise how having bad teeth can affect you until you have treatment like this and you get the confidence back. The whole shape of my mouth has changed. I could not have wished for better treatment. My care was first class and Steven has become like family to us."

Suction solution
is this the answer for you?

A CUTTING-EDGE development to help resolve the stability problems faced by thousands of denture wearers is being offered by the Denture Clinic.

Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng) GDC108353, who heads the teams at his North Street practice in Dudley, and other clinics across the region, says the invention has the potential to resolve all-too-common denture stability issues.

Prosthetics are held in place by tiny valve-operated suction devices which are built into the prescription. A clever diaphragm principle, triggered by bite pressure on patients' gums, creates a 'sucking' vacuum between the soft-tissue mouth lining and the prosthetic.

Steven, whose clinics attracts patients from as far as Spain, the Isle of Skye and the Isle of Anglesey, adds: "The denture revolution is evolving at a frightening pace.

"In recent times we have seen, what I can describe only as strident steps forward, with implant-retained over-dentures, 'teeth-in-a-day' implant procedures and suction solution dentures, all coming into main-stream dentistry.

"We also have clever injection moulding technology which allows excellent fitting outcomes and our clinical solutions have never been so appealing.

"Implant dentistry as a resolve for stabilisation issues is not suitable for everyone, neither is it all patients' first preference, but the Ultra Suction prosthetics offer yet another possibility.

"The beauty of this affordable technology is that it can deliver for the right patient excellent denture retainer qualities without the invasive clinical procedures required for implant work. We have always endeavoured to be on the very cusp of clinical development and this is another 'tool 'in our commitment to ever-try to deliver results which are greater than patient expectations.

"Lower dentures can often be troublesome as stability is compromised by shrinking gums and bone erosion – it's all part of the ageing process. Ill-fitting dentures create painful friction problems on gums and not least, be a source of compromised chewing and embarrassment."

The Ultra Suction system is available for both top and lower dentures, enables the construction of a plateless top denture and can be successfully used in reline work

Reduction

Steven adds: "The device can be mounted on upper or lower teeth and because of its efficiency allows us to consider a reduction in the size of the acrylic 'plate' which can result in improved speech and taste."

Typically, Denture Clinic patients will be assigned more than three-and-a-half clinical hours surgery time in achieving the best possible outcome.

Dentures have traditionally never been associated with cosmetic makeovers, "but our high-quality prosthetics have quite literally taken years off some of our patients," says Steven. "Can dentures look glamorous? Emphatically, yes – we have taken years off the appearance of some of our patients."

Queen hands CBE to NHS campaigner

Julie Bailey is made a CBE by the Queen at a ceremony at Buckingham Palace

NHS campaigner Julie Bailey, who worked to expose the serious failings at Stafford Hospital, has been made a CBE by the Queen. The founder of Cure The NHS described the honour as vindication for all health whistleblowers.

Ms Bailey founded the campaign group after being appalled by the care she witnessed her mother receive at the hospital before she died.

Speaking after the Buckingham Palace investiture, Ms Bailey said: "It's really exciting that I've received recognition for all the hard work, not only for myself but the group as well and everybody else within the NHS who's tried to speak out, whistleblowers from all over the country."

After her mother Bella died in 2007 at Stafford Hospital, Ms Bailey campaigned to expose the major problems at Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

She made repeated calls for a public inquiry into the scandal which later highlighted the "appalling and unnecessary suffering of hundreds of people" at the trust.

She added: "It's been a really difficult battle. We've got a long way to go but I really feel we're starting to break down defences and there's a lot more to do for the vulnerable within this society."

by Laura Blyth

Wintech Group has applied to move into the new, purpose-built 1,037m sq corporate headquarters building.

The planning application has been submitted to Cannock Chase District Council, whose economic development and planning portfolio Gordon Alcott said: "I very much welcome Wintech's plans to relocate into Cannock Chase district.

Recognised

"Kingswood Lakeside is attracting world-class businesses into the district and Wintech would be a welcome addition."

Wintech is one of the largest façade engineering consultancy companies in the world and is a recognised centre of excellence in the field, specialising in the design and engineering of the outside windows and walls of buildings.

FOCUS ON BURNTWOOD

Changes are planned to food waste collection

RESIDENTS in Burntwood could soon be putting food waste in a different bin under district council plans to change the collection system.

Lichfield District Council is considering telling households to dispose of food in their black general waste wheelie bins. The changes could save more than £500,000 over the next three years.

By Adam Burling

They currently have to put food scraps in the brown bin with garden waste. But bosses say the opening of a new incinerator in Four Ashes means the amount of waste going to landfill is being greatly reduced – so food can be disposed of with general household rubbish.

Then the composting method for garden waste would also be changed to save cash.

Cabinet

At the moment the waste goes through an 'in-vessel composter' machine, but a 'windrow' facility could be used, where rubbish is composted in the open air.

The council estimates the changes will save £9,410 in 2014/15, £248,390 in 2015/16 and £267,340 in 2016/17.

Its cabinet was looking at the proposals on Tuesday night and they could come into force in October.

A report by waste management chief Councillor Ian Eadie says: "The county council's energy from waste facility at Four Ashes recently opened and this means that all the waste collected in the black bins by the joint waste service now goes there for incineration rather than being disposed of at landfill.

"The opening of this facility does provide an opportunity to change the organic waste service which would save a significant amount of money without having a major impact on service delivery, public satisfaction and recycling performance.

"We would continue to encourage reductions in food waste but when disposing of it, instead of using their brown bin residents would be asked to put food waste into their black bin or alternatively use home composting where this is practical."

Bosses admit the first weeks of the changeover could cause problems as checks would be needed to ensure waste is being put in the correct bins.

Ben Gilbert of Burntwood, who needs a powered wheelchair to go to university

Wheelchair plea to aid young actor

AN appeal has been launched to help an aspiring actor from Burntwood attend university. Ben Gilbert was born with quadraplegic cerebral palsy and uses a wheelchair full-time.

The 18-year-old had to delay his application last September as he needs a powered wheelchair to get around freely.

He has now teamed up with national charity Caudwell Children to raise the £7,000 needed.

Currently, friends and family push Ben around in his manual chair. He said having a powered wheelchair would enable him to reclaim his independence and help him achieve his dream of acting.

Ben's mother Lesley said: "Having a powered wheelchair will give him his independence and mean he can go on to pursue his dreams."

Jobs saved as company is sold off

A FACTORY in Burntwood that made water slides and flumes for the leisure industry has closed.

Loyal Grove Leisure and its sister firm Country Leisure GRP in Cholderton, near Andover, Hampshire, have been bought out of administration by newly-formed Country Leisure Fibreglass.

Loyal Grove, formed in 1991, was bought by Country Leisure GRP in 1999. Both firms specialised in the manufacture of fibreglass products. Combined turnover of the group was around £3 million.

The group employed 39 before going into administration and 19 jobs have been saved with the businesses now to operate solely from Cholderton.

One of three employees at Bridge Cross Road, Chase Terrace, has moved to Cholderton. The others had previously been made redundant.

Administrators Julie Palmer and Neil Vinnicombe, of Begbies Traynor, were appointed over the businesses to handle a sale.

Mrs Palmer, regional managing partner for Begbies Traynor's South West region, said: "We were particularly pleased we were able to save 19 of the 39 jobs."

Trophy on offer for dance star

A DISCO for vulnerable adults will be held in Burntwood tomorrow night (Friday).

Burntwood Gateway Club will host Stars at the Memorial Hall in Rugeley Road from 7-10pm.

Organiser Anne Scandrett said: "We have called it Stars because everyone attending and helping are all stars.

"It is run by adults for adults and is supported by a team of very dedicated volunteers.

"This project has been 14 months in the making and I am so pleased that it is now taking place.

"My son James will be one of four DJs and there will be a trophy for the best dancer as well as a raffle."

Gateway provides members with social and leisure activities, including weekly meetings and trips out whenever funds permit.

Since its members can only afford a small membership fee, the club relies on donations to keep running.

Entry to the disco is £3. For more information call 01543 301497.

A Lott of praise for volunteer Stephen

A BURNTWOOD teenager has won a national award for his commitment towards volunteering.

Stephen Sutton, who has incurable bowel cancer, has pledged to raise as much money as he can for the Teenage Cancer Trust. He was named as winner of the All Round Commitment to Volunteering category at the annual vInspired National Awards.

He was chosen from hundreds of nominations to claim the prize in the star-studded ceremony which featured performances from Pixie Lott along with appearances by Louis Spence, Misha B and Delilah.

In association with RBS Early Careers, the annual vInspired National Awards 2014 is the biggest event of its kind and was held on Sunday night to celebrate the achievements and dedication of young volunteers and youth workers.

Generosity

They aim to challenge negative attitudes towards young people by highlighting the creativity, motivation and generosity of some of the most inspiring young volunteers in the country.

Stephen was chosen over two others in his category for his outstanding contribution to his community.

He is a multi-award winning fundraiser for Teenage Cancer Trust. The 19-year-old has raised £567,000 for the charity since January 2013 – and achievement which won him a Kids Count Inspiration Award in June and a newspaper's local community hero award, in November.

Stephen, who got his first taste of volunteering as a maths tutor at 13, said: "Volunteering has helped me hugely – it has realigned my values, made me realise what is important and given me the opportunity to help many people."

The former Chase Terrace Technology College student, who accepted his award from Pixie Lott, said: "It was absolutely amazing to hear my name called out as a winner and going up and receiving my award from Pixie Lott was incredible.

"I'm so happy to win this award and be recognised for my volunteering ."

Terry Ryall, CEO of vInspired said: "The determination and selflessness our young people demonstrate in their volunteering is truly inspirational."

Young athletes presented with funding award

THIRTY-SIX promising youth athletes have been recognised for their sporting achievements and awarded a share of £15,000.

Staffordshire County Council launched it's Staffordshire's Talented Athlete Fund in December to support some of the county's most promising athletes with the costs of training and competing in their chosen sports.

The awards are divided into three categories – gold, silver and bronze – to reflect the range of talent.

After assessing a record number of applications, grants of £1,000, £500 and £300 were awarded to young people in 16 different sports.

Cabinet member for children, Councillor Mike Lawrence, said: "We are delighted to be able to support these young people on their sporting journey and help them with the costs of competing at this level."

The talented youngsters come from sports including athletics, cricket, canoe slalom and cycling.

The money is used to support the cost of their training and participation in competitions, including expenses such as travel, equipment and accommodation.

The scheme is supported by Sport Across Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent.

Supporters turn out to remember Thomas

HUNDREDS of supporters turned out for a charity match in memory of a talented young footballer who died on his 13th birthday.

Thomas Smith died suddenly from meningities during a trip to Wales in May last year leaving his family and friends devastated.

His former coach at Chasetown Scholars, Tony Hardwick, organised Saturday's match to raise money for a fund set up in his Thomas's name as part of charity Meningitis Now.

Almost 700 people packed in through the gates to watch the Under-14s take on their counterparts from Walsall FC at the Scholars Ground in Church Street, Chasetown.

His parents Andy and Emma, from Hednesford, were among those in the crowd and a minute's applause in honour of Aston Villa fan Thomas was held before kick-off.

Team captains Charlie Neath, aged 13 and Andrew Jeffreys, 14

Tribute

Chasetown won 6-2 and at the end, the couple was presented with a framed shirt which had been worn by Thomas when he played for the club.

Mr Smith said the match was a fitting tribute to his son.

"He was an exceptional footballer and it's nice to have that recognised," he said. "He was a genuinely nice guy and everybody loved him.

"It was very touching to see how many people came out for the match and to support the charity for Tom.

"They were not here for me or Emma, they came for Tom and that means a lot to us.

"It's been absolutely brilliant but very emotional too," he said.

Thomas's aunt Joy Smith added: "It was fantastic to see so many people turn out. They have been brilliant supporting the charity, everybody is very grateful."

Mr Hardwick said around £3,000 had been raised. He added: "It went really well and we had a good crowd. We had sold 500 tickets and we had a lot more people turn up on the day.

"I am very pleased with how the day has gone. Every penny raised will go to the charity's meningitis research and work"

There are hopes the match could become an annual event in memory of Thomas.

Chasetown FC is also to name an annual trophy after the 13-year-old.

The kid's all right for mum Minstrel

Yard manager Lucy Rostance gives Counters the pygmy goat a hug at Cannock Chase Trekking Centre

AN adorable pygmy goat called Counters is melting hearts at a trekking centre near Cannock. The little bundle of joy was born at Cannock Chase Trekking Centre.

Owner Lisa Gregory said: "We didn't know that mum was definitely pregnant.

"She gave birth outside and all the visitors were able to watch. It's the first pygmy goat to be born here."

Since mum Minstrel gave birth to Counters, named after the Galaxy sweets, another female goat, Cloud, followed suit, giving birth to two kids.

Ms Gregory has run the trekking centre on the A34 for the past 19 years. She has 44 horses at the site and offers horse riding through Cannock Chase. The trekking centre gets around 17,000 visitors through its doors each year.

Prolific thief sent down

A PROLIFIC thief who stole power tools from 14 vehicles has been jailed for 12 weeks.

Paul Hall, aged 31, of no fixed address, broke into cars and vans in a string of thefts spanning one month.

Hall admitted stealing tools from a car belonging to Annette O'Mahoney on February 16, as well as a Makita Paddle Mixer to the value of £300, belonging to Stephen Thomas on February 23. Hall asked for 12 other offences to be taken into account when he appeared before Cannock magistrates.

The court heard police spotted Hall in the car park of a disused pub in Cannock with two other men on February 23 at 3.10am along with a Citroen Saxo full of tools which were later identified as being stolen.

John Peel, prosecuting, said: "Forensic evidence showed blood stains in the car matched Hall who admitted he had stolen power tools from a van on one occasion and he had cut himself."

Mr Brij Chaudhry, defending, said: "These are unsophisticated crimes all of a similar nature."

The court heard Hall lost his job as a yard supervisor at Fletchers Metals in Wolverhampton on January 17. He split up with his partner and began to hang around with people who he used to associate with and had started taking drugs again.

Pet shop raider stole snake 'for a laugh'

A MAN broke into a pet shop 'for a laugh' and stole a snake. Danny Tomlinson rang the store a week later and returned it.

Tomlinson, of Harney Court, Rugeley, was handed a bill of almost £700 after he admitted burgling Creature Comforts in the town's Market Street. He was also given 240 hours unpaid work and a 12-month community order with supervision.

The court heard Tomlinson had twice visited the shop before the March 24 break-in, asking questions about the reptile.

The 21-year-old claimed he had drank half a bottle of Vodka and was 'off his head' on Mcat, a slang name for the stimulant drug mephadrone at the time.

Owner Susan Birch was at the shop a week later when she took a phone call from someone calling himself Dan, saying he had the missing snake.

Mr John Peel, prosecuting, said Tomlinson visited the shop with the snake at her request 30 minutes later, along with scenes of crimes officers. They found blood on the inside of the door frame and CCTV footage implicating him as the lone intruder.

After seeing the footage, he said he could not remember what had happened because he had snorted two lines of Mcat and drank a can of lager and the vodka.

Cannock magistrates heard he had 18 other convictions on his record but none of this nature.

A probation report said that despite telling police he took the snake for a laugh, he admitted wanting the reptile and deliberately targeting the shop.

In defence, Paul Tonks said: "He wants to keep away from the demon drink."

Amazon staff Emily Twyford, Sara Elwell and Kevin Hunt, headmistress Tina Blankley and pupils on Chancel Primary's Discovery Deck

THINGS are looking ship-shape at a school which is turning a 40ft narrowboat into a library after a company stepped in to help pay for a nifty new paint job.

Chancel Primary School in Rugeley took delivery of the new boat thanks to a £10,000 lottery grant.

The boat, named Discovery Deck, following a competition within the Wolseley Road school, has been installed in the playground and is being fitted out as a library.

With pupils' help, canal boat artist Len Dean has given it an eye-catching new livery.

The work was paid for by a £500 donation from internet mail order giant Amazon, which has a distribution centre in the town.

Rookie Pc played part in Chase murder hunt

A FORMER police officer has told how he 'lied' about his experience in order to take part in the Cannock Chase murder investigation.

Alan Parker, then a rookie officer, aged 17, was among scores of officers called to the parade room at Walsall police station on August 22, 1967, to take part in the search for Christine Darby who had gone missing three days earlier.

The seven-year-old was suspected of being the latest victim of the man dubbed the Cannock Chase murderer after the bodies of six-year-old Margaret Reynolds, of Aston, and five-year-old Diana Tift from Bloxwich had been found in a shallow grave at the beauty spot 18 months earlier.

In the parade room that morning, anyone with less than six months' experience in the force was asked to step aside.

Ex-policeman Alan Parker

Killer Raymond Morris

Diane Tift

Recruits

Recalling the moment from his home in Marston Street, Willenhall, the grandfather-of-two said. "I stayed where I was, even though I'd only joined the force three months before, because I badly wanted to be part of the investigation."

Those on the hunt were taken to Cannock Chase in Black Marias. Today, he still remembers the registration number – 47 UDH – of the van he was in because it was the vehicle that took recruits to Bilston Baths for regular swimming and diving training.

"We stopped for a briefing at a big hall involving everyone on the search, including the Army. There were probably 500-600 of us.

"Then we set off into the densest part of the Chase. I ruined my new uniform because under the bracken and fern was old fencing with rusty barbed wire which cut my legs and ripped my trousers. Everyone had whistles and we were told to blow them if we found anything. I blew mine a couple of times because you would come across bits of clothing.

"Everything stopped while an officer came across to inspect what you'd got. Then he would give two blows on his whistle to signal for everyone to carry on. I was about 100 yards from the soldier who who found her body."

Pc Parker was also there on November 16, 1968, when Morris was arrested for Christine's murder.

"He'd been picked up that morning, living right under our noses in a flat opposite the station in Green Lane all that time."

Mr Parker, now aged 63, left the force after two years to take a job at Garrington's in Darlaston, part of GKNwhere he worked until he retired.

Day 2: A full day out today as we head west – leaving Devon behind as we cross the River Tamar into Cornwall and visit two beautiful coastal villages. Polperro, Sheltered from the ravages of time and tide in its cliff ravine, it's an enchanting jumble of cottages, each one unmistakably the work of a Cornish fisherman. Wending your way through the traffic-free streets to the small harbour, you're treading the paths where barrows of fish were once carted and, under cover of night, brandy casks and tobacco bales were carried into their hideouts. Looe is situated on both sides of the River Looe.
Day 3: After breakfast – a morning trip along the coast to the picturesque fishing port of Brixham. Watch the fishing boats come and go with the day's catch and explore the variety of unique shops.
Day 4: We leave for home after a last, hearty 'Torbay Court' breakfast.

Expansion of quarries to maintain production

QUARRIES across Staffordshire will be expanded and new ones could be built under plans to maintain production levels over the coming years.

The sites in Saredon and Calf Heath as well as in Alrewas, will be developed to keep the industry going, county council bosses have revealed.

by Adam Burling

They say the quarries are crucial for the county's economy and that they will support applications that have taken into account residents and the environment.

A report by the council states: "Provision will be made to maintain permitted reserves of up to 5.4 million tons of sand and gravel per annum.

Reserves

"This will be achieved initially from existing permitted reserves and by granting permission to extend the following sand and gravel sites."

Plans for the Saredon quarry to nearly double in size were revealed recently. The proposals will secure employment there for the future, before reserves of minerals begin to run low. County Council chiefs have drawn up a masterplan for the future of mineral excavation in the county.

A report set to go before a planning committee meeting today (Thursday) says: "Current permitted reserves could be depleted by 2025. To maintain the capacity to produce at 5.4 million tonnes per annum requires additional reserves to be permitted within the next 10 years."

Developers will be expected to assess the environmental effects of the work and liaise with the local community at an early stage.

The 33-year-old former Great Wyrley High School pupil said: "I love writing and I love comedy."

Victoria Falls

Botswana Safari and Cape Town

Beginning in Zambia, staying close to the spectacular Victoria Falls, the largest single body of falling water in the world, a sunset cruise along the mighty Zambezi on the African Queen will be the first spectacular experience. As the boat glides across this expanse of a river inhabited by hippo and crocodiles, simply relax in a wicker armchair and absorb the unique surroundings.

At Victoria Falls, a guided walking tour is included with other options to view the spectacular falls from either a cruise, a helicopter flight or from a micro-light aircraft.

On the Botswana Safari travel in a specially adapted 10-seater open-sided safari vehicle and see a wide variety of game including monkeys, warthogs and even leopards plus the chance to see cats, giraffe and elephants – it's an experience not to be forgotten so remember to pack a camera!

A second cruise, this time along the Chobe River, almost guarantees sightings of elephant and hippo, then a visit to Cape Point passes the fishing harbour of Hout Bay. Continuing on, see the breathtakingly scenic Chapman's Peak Drive, full of rugged seascapes and cliffs to the Cape of Good Hope Nature Reserve.

At Cape Point itself see the confluence of the Indian and Atlantic Ocean then it's on to Boulders Beach to see the resident penguin colony.

On the Winelands tour, a visit to the small town of Franschoek is included home to South Africa's most prestigious university and where period buildings and historic streets reinforce the town's dignified atmosphere. A cellar tour and tasting at the award-winning Boschendal Wine Estate is included.

The touring holiday ends in Cape Town. Take time to explore the excellent shopping and dining available, take the cable car to the summit of Table Mountain and, weather permitting, visit Robben Island where Nelson Mandela spent most of his 27 years incarceration.

Iceland – Reykjavík and the Northern Lights

Pick of the week

Four days various departure dates

PRICE FROM £519

Enjoy a break with a difference, as you fly to the 'Land of fire and ice' to discover and explore one of Europe's most surprising, welcoming and most happening cities.

Iceland is a place where all the earth's natural power and beauty are revealed in smouldering volcanoes, plunging waterfalls, bubbling thermal pools, spouting geysers and distant glaciers – all within a short drive of Reykjavík.

The included guided city tour is the ideal way to get aquainted with Reykjavík. Amongst the highlights will be the 'Pearl', a collection of disused water tanks now crowned with a glass dome and converted into a conference centre. Here there is also a viewing platform looking out over the city and harbour beyond.

The Presidential Residence at Bessastaoir, the fishing town of Hafnarfjord, the Houses of Parliament, Lutheran Cathedral and Iceland's tallest and most memorable building, Hallgrim's Church, are also taken in during the tour.

Perhaps the highlight of the break will be the trip out of the city in search of a sighting of the Aurora Borealis. Truly awe-inspiring, the Northern Lights, should they be seen, are a never-to-be forgotten sight.

Please note the Northern Lights are a natural phenomenen and sightings cannot be guaranteed.

MASTERS of majestic melodic melancholy Elbow have secured their position as one of Britain's best loved bands and one of the few with songs really big enough to warrant a stadium singalong.

The former Ramsbottom pub band, who won Brit and Mercury prize nominations with their debut Asleep in the Back in 2001, recently released their sixth album The Take Off and Landing of Everything and have a gig at Birmingham's National Indoor Arena on Saturday night.

Lead singer Bury-born Guy Garvey, who also presents his own BBC Radio 6 show, will no doubt call upon a back catalogue that includes such anthems as One Day Like This, a song chosen to close London's 2012 Olympics, and Open Arms.

Elbow finally won the Mercury Prize in 2008 with The Seldom Seen Kid.

Support at their Birmingham concert will be a solo spot by Doves frontman Jimi Goodwin, who last week released his solo debut album Odludek.

Rock veterans Status Quo have a poignant twist to their concerts at Wolverhampton Civic Hall tonight (Thursday) and next Thursday. The Frantic Four of Francis Rossi, Rick Parfitt, Alan Lancaster and John Coghlan will be supported by ex-Dr Feelgood guitarist Wilko Johnson. The terminally ill guitar legend from Canvey Island is enjoying the biggest success of his career with his collaboration album with The Who's Roger Daltrey, Going Back Home.

Hard rock Northern Irish trio Therapy? mark 20 years since their breakthrough album Troublegum tomorrow at the Wulfrun Hall.

That's the same night that the surviving members of Ian Dury's band The Blockheads bring their Brit funk sound to the Robin 2 in Bilston to celebrate 35 years since Hit Me With Your Rhythm Stick.

Welsh rockers Manic Street Preachers have sold out their gig at Wolverhampton Civic Hall on Sunday. Strictly Come Dancing pop star Sophie Ellis-Bextor is at the Institute in Digbeth on Monday. Gary Barlow will be playing his solo and Take That songs at the LG Arena on Tuesday and returns with his Since I Saw You Last tour on Saturday, April 19.

Elbow ready to bring melodic melancholy

Mancunian punk veterans The Buzzcocks, whose Ever Fallen In Love must rate as one of the greatest pop songs, play the Robin 2 next Thursday.

The biggest musical event of next weekend will be the arrival of JT, as US star Justin Timberlake comes to Birmingham for concerts at the LG Arena on Friday and Saturday, April 11 and 12.

Wireless has an R&B star line-up

THE V Festival has a West Midlands rival. Like August's V, Wireless Festival will swap line-ups over two location but, unlike its rival, will be in cities – Birmingham's Perry Park and London's Finsbury Park. Wireless, on the July 4 to 6 weekend, has an R&B bias.

On Friday, Drake tops the bill, support includes Rudimental and Wiz Khalifa; on Saturday Bruno Mars headlines and acts include Ellie Goulding, John Newman, Clean Bandit, Bewdley's Becky Hill, the return of Outkast and Salt-N-Pepa; on Sunday Kanye West closes the festival with Happy chart-topper Pharrell Williams.

Day and weekend tickets are available, see www.wirelessfestival.co.uk

Lunar offering alternative fest

A BOUTIQUE festival specialising in alternative music, from psychedelic rock to weird folk, is arriving in Warwickshire.

The Lunar Festival is at the Umberslade Estate, Tanworth-in-Arden, five miles from M42 Junction 3.

The line-up on the June 6 -8 weekend includes: Friday, British Sea Power, former Charlatans frontman Tim Burgess and Toy; Saturday, 60s star Donovan and Temples; Sunday, ex-Captain Beefheart musicians The Magic Band and only the Midlands date for Texan outfit The Polyphonic Spree. See lunarfestival.co.uk for details.

The Voice UK: The Live Final (BBC1, 7pm)
This is it, folks. Kylie Minogue has cried all the tears that count, and will.i.am has stalled in his decision-making all that he'll be allowed – yep, they and fellow coaches Ricky Wilson and Sir Tom Jones have done everything they can to get their acts to the final. But now it's entirely out of their control, and here's where for one of them, all that hard work and emotional turmoil will pay off, as a winner is crowned. Each artist will perform a song of their choice, followed by an exclusive duet with their coach. The votes in so far will then be counted, and four will become three, as the one with the lowest score is given the elbow. Appearances from Paloma Faith and Aloe Blacc will temporarily ease the tension.

Oona Chaplin

The Crimson Field (BBC1, 9pm)

When it was first announced, the BBC's First World War season seemed to be heavy on documentaries (as you would expect) and little else. However, this new drama series should prove to be one of the highlights. It's been painstakingly researched by writer Sarah Phelps, who has aimed to bring back to life what it was like to work in and be treated at a tented field hospital near the front line in France. A superb cast, which includes Suranne Jones, Hermione Norris, Oona Chaplin and Kerry Fox, bring the characters to life. The first episode follows the fortunes of volunteer nurses Kitty, Flora and Rosalie when they meet new Sister Joan Livesey, whose modern approach ruffles a few feathers...

Pick of the Week

A new take on caring upsets the old guard

When it was first announced, the BBC's First World War season seemed to be heavy on documentaries (as you would expect) and little else.

However, this new drama series should prove to be one of the highlights.

It's been painstakingly researched by writer Sarah Phelps, who has aimed to bring back to life what it was like to work in and be treated at a tented field hospital near the front line in France.

"I hope viewers get a sense of the scale of the war, and that it comes from it from a slightly different perspective," says Phelps. "Not at the Front, we are further back, but nonetheless this is where men were healed and put back together again, or not, and there's a real sense of being at the cutting edge of life and death."

The writer, who previous worked with executive producer Anne Pivcevic on an adaptation of Great Expectations, took the book The Roses of No Man's Land by Lyn MacDonald as a starting point before embarking on further reading.

"I am amazed at the stuff I never knew, especially about the medical and the surgical and the nursing aspects," she reveals.

"I found looking at contemporary photographs at the time – cameras were banned at the Front but people sneaked them through and took all sorts of pictures – they tell an incredible story."

She adds: "One of my favourite bits and the most resonant for me was an ad hoc journal that had been typed up, and it was memories of hospital...

"This tiny little description of the sound of a young volunteer girl from a sheltered background in England, who was now standing in a tented ward somewhere in France, whisking egg whites with a fork, to feed to a man whose face had been blown off – the sound of her fork against the side of the bowl – that's an image that went like a knife into my heart."

Phelps has incorporated that story in the screenplay, and it's touching moments and details such as that which helped attract a starry cast – Suranne Jones, Hermione Norris, Oona Chaplin and Kerry Fox are among those bringing the characters to life.

"I think with casting we got some brilliant people in," explains Phelps. "Generally you watched the auditions, and you knew when that person had arrived. You know when that character is there!

"It's really exciting when you know that right actor has arrived and is doing it right in front of you. That's a real thrill."

The first episode follows the fortunes of Kitty, Flora and Rosalie when they volunteer to work at a busy war hospital.

They face as tough a battle as the men at the Front – although their fight involves keeping soldiers alive and tending to their often terrible wounds.

By the end of the day the girls have been joined by Sister Joan Livesey, whose modern approach ruffles a few feathers...

Oona Chaplin stars in The Crimson Field, Sunday, BBC1, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY
Undeniable
ITV, 9pm
If the fact that this thriller is written by acclaimed writer Chris Lang isn't enough to make you drop what you're doing and tune in, how about the fact that the likes of renowned actors Claire Goose and Peter Firth are signed up to the leads? Yes, we thought that might get your attention. Jane Phillips (Goose) was just seven years old at the time of a brutal attack which she survived, but left her mother dead – and the killer was never found. Now, Jane is pregnant with her second child, and as she attends an antenatal clinic, she claps eyes on the man she's adamant is responsible for her mother's death. But Andrew Rawlins (Firth) is in fact a well-respected consultant oncologist and Jane has wrongly identified suspects before…

The Treasure Hunters
BBC1, 9pm
As you can probably imagine, the precious metals industry is big business – the clue is in the name: 'precious'. So with all manner of multinational companies out to find the world's natural treasures, Dallas Campbell and Ellie Harrison may have their work cut out tracking down some of their own – but they're no strangers to a challenge, having presented numerous science and wildlife based programmes between them. That's what this new two-parter is all about: science and nature combine as the pair travel the world in search of truly spectacular hauls, whether it's gems, minerals and metals, or the lucrative by-products of marine wildlife – including pearls and ambergris.

TUESDAY
The Battle for Britain's Breakfast
BBC2, 9pm
In the red corner: TV-am, including the likes of Anne Diamond, Nick Owen, David Frost, Angela Rippon, Lorraine Kelly and Kay Burley; in the blue corner: the BBC's Breakfast Time, with the likes of Sue Cook, Jill Dando, Fern Britton, David Icke, Nick Ross and Jeremy Paxman. Thus the battle lines were drawn in 1983, when breakfast television rose to prominence and the two big players fought for supremacy for the best part of a decade. In this documentary, famous faces from morning TV shows past and present drop in to discuss what life was like before this time, when morning viewing choices were limited to educational shows or the test card, and after.

WEDNESDAY
Ian Hislop's Olden Days – The Power of the Past in Britain
BBC2, 9pm
It's no secret that we British have a long-held fascination with the past, which just means that the Beeb have even more license to throw another remarkable documentary into the schedules – and Ian Hislop's added his name to the latest films. The satirist explores our obsession with the olden days, and reveals how and why we seem to constantly hark back to the past to make sense of the present. Over the next three weeks, drawing upon the work of Britain's minstrels, storytellers, poets, painters and architects, Ian will demonstrate how influential the olden days have always been. In the first instalment, he reveals how from 1066 to today, we've looked back to the Dark Ages, and explores various spins put on the lives of King Arthur and Alfred the Great through the ages.

Undeniable, Monday, ITV, 9pm

The £60,000 Puppy: Cloning Man's Best Friend
Channel 4, 10pm
Sooam Biotech might not mean anything to you at the moment – but it soon will. That's because after viewing this programme, you're not likely to forget it in a hurry. Sooam Biotech are the only company in the world with the technology to clone dogs, and Britain's most obsessive dog owners have been given the chance to 'immortalise' their canine friend free – quite a bargain, really, given that the process usually costs £60,000. Cameras follows the South Korean team as they travel our land, meeting eccentric dog lovers who can't even contemplate life without their pet. The film looks at the initial meetings throughout the cloning process, and the cutting-edge science behind it.

THURSDAY
Digby Jones: The New Troubleshooter
BBC2, 8pm
No offence to Mary 'Queen of Shops' Portas, Alex 'The Fixer' Polizzi, or Gordon Ramsay and his Kitchen Nightmares, but for many people, the ultimate TV business guru is former ICI chairman John Harvey-Jones, better known to viewers in the 1990s as The Troubleshooter. So, Digby Jones has a big job ahead of him as he takes on the mantle for this new, three-part series – but luckily his CV suggests he's the perfect person to advise struggling businesses. The first enterprise to get the benefit of his expertise is Hereford Furniture, a family-owned company which recently recorded a loss. They grant Jones access to every area of the operation over the course of five months – but will they agree with his conclusions?

FRIDAY
The Trip to Italy
BBC2, 10pm
Series one of this Steve Coogan/Rob Brydon comedy travelogue was one of the most engaging shows of recent years, and this second episode, partly set at sea, is a welcome break from the road trip format. Aside from colouring in Coogan's relationship with his screen son (who's in Ibiza), we suspect all is not well with Brydon's screen wife; at least he lightens the mood with more default Tom Jones impressions. When the travelling mates aren't on a yacht with their Sloane ranger guide (Anthony Hopkins/Captain Bligh impression provided as standard), they're sampling more fine Italian cuisine while reflecting on middle age.

Porsche has put sport into sports utility in rapid and engaging car

By Iain Dooley

Porsche's first foray into the expanding and lucrative sports utility market with the Cayenne did two things: split opinion and considerably enhanced the company's bottom line.

Eager to repeat that success with a car in the burgeoning compact SUV market, Porsche has developed the Macan. And while its origins can be traced back to Audi's Q5, Porsche's engineers have transformed that car and put the sport into sports utility.

Although clearly influenced by the look of the Cayenne, the Macan is more streamlined in profile and doesn't tower over regular cars like its conventional rivals. Crucially this athletic stance does much to banish any notion that the Macan is all show and no go.

For now, it's six-cylinder turbo power across the range – two petrol and one diesel. Furthermore, Porsche's popular seven-speed dual clutch PDK gearbox is standard fit.

The Macan's cabin will be familiar to the Porsche faithful, thanks to the car's central fascia replete with all the important climate and performance-enhancing switchgear easy to hand. The main colour touchscreen allows access to a high quality audio and navigation experience.

With a steering wheel and tail lights influenced by Porsche's 918 hybrid supercar, you're left in no doubt as to the Macan's heritage.

It's already ticked the various boxes regarding the accommodating cabin and a family-friendly boot space, giving it the potential to deliver the best of both worlds if you're restricted to owning only one car.

And so it proves that, predictably in 400 horsepower turbo petrol guise, the Macan behaves nothing like the traditional SUV stereotype. Agile, rapid and engaging, there's no hint of a compromise when behind the wheel.

Balance

As you'd expect, the experience is largely the same but a little less rapid in the regular 340 horsepower Macan S. For many, this will strike an attractive balance between ability and affordability.

And while the diesel variant is unlikely to appeal to cash-rich early adopters keen to be first in line for the fastest, shiniest variant, it delivers the biggest surprise for keen drivers.

The car's 254 horsepower is comparable to some rivals but it's the way the whole package gels that's impressive. The quiet, rumble and rattle-free diesel motor's flexible delivery combines with the polished PDK gearbox and composed ride to banish any perception that the oil-burning Macan would be the black sheep of the range.

Brisk, engaging and refined in equal measure, the Macan S Diesel is one of those rare things; an engaging, practical and stylish all-weather premium experience.

Factor in the plethora of driver-orientated options – adjustable dampers, air suspension, intelligent power distribution and traction electronics – and you've got the recipe for an accomplished, vice-free all-rounder.

Oh, and the Macan will also happily tackle tricky off-road terrain in its stride; proof that its athletic profile is no barrier to getting down and dirty if the going gets muddy.

Unlike with the Cayenne, Porsche enters an already developed market with the Macan.

There's no shortage of choice but what is lacking is a credible sporting alternative to the conventional high-rise template.

What gives the Macan the edge is its combination of ability, an engaging driving experience and brand image.

TESTED

Model: Porsche Macan Diesel S, from £43,300 on the road.

Performance: Maximum speed where permitted of 143mph, 0-62mph 6.1 seconds.

Economy: 46.3mpg.

CO2 Rating: 159g/km.

New Verso MPV from Toyota is on line to do much better

By Matt Kimberley

Sometimes the biggest obstacle you can face is the simple fact that you're not a trendier something else.

The Voice flopped because it wasn't The X Factor. The motoring show Fifth Gear flopped because it wasn't Top Gear. And the Toyota Verso MPV . . . well, let's just compare its 3,000 UK sales last year with the Nissan Qashqai crossover's 50,000.

Ultimately they're a similar size, with similar driving positions and similar engines, so it's no wonder Toyota has been scratching its metaphorical head.

The problem was judged to be the lack of an eco-bananas 1.6-litre diesel, so thanks to a new partnership with BMW, that's changed.

The 2014 Verso has a host of small detail changes and quality improvements.

That's all well and good, and while the cabin still feels distinctly Toyota the real meat of the new model is its engine, and what Toyota has done to it.

The 1.6-litre four-cylinder diesel has been pinched from the Mini, where it has been reliable enough to catch Toyota's eye.

Refining

The Verso is a heavier car though, so rather than try to change its power delivery, the firm has focused on refining it; making it as useful in day-to-day driving as possible.

And they've done a remarkably good job. Toyota's engine mounts are different, designed to absorb more of the compact diesel's vibrations and prevent them from reaching the driver and passengers.

As long as your hands aren't resting on the interior trim, vibrations are almost undetectable.

This distillation extends to the stop-start system, which uses an uprated starter motor to kick the engine into life. This kind of stop-start process can rattle your fillings out if it's badly set up, so Toyota, believing that the Verso will spend most of its life in traffic, has smoothed out the restart into a buttery-smooth process that offers all the disturbance of a passing moth.

Comfortable

From the driver's seat, there's more to appreciate, from the myriad storage compartments to the near-ideal driving position.

The seats themselves are flat-based and offer little in the way of lateral support, but for gentle cruising they are comfortable.

There's also a good view out of the Toyota Verso in all directions.

On paper the borrowed engine looks a little feeble next to the competition, but the reality belies the numbers. The Verso never really feels out of its depth and pulls strongly through the gears with two people and luggage on board. It's quiet below 2,500rpm, but a boot-full of throttle will see it get a little rowdy.

The middle row of seats is mightily spacious, with child seat attachment points on the outer two perches. The third, fold-away row is definitely for occasional use only, but as kids always seem to travel with friends, it might come in very handy.

A perennially comfortable ride seems to sum the Verso up. It's not a new-fangled exciting crossover and it makes no pretence to dynamism.

But it's well thought-out by people who know how to make a great everyday family car, and the new engine is a perfect fit.

It deserves to do much better this year.

Pump up the beat in this fun and loud party, party trekking car

By Iain Dooley

The Fiat 500L Beats Edition takes the ruggedly smart 500L Trekking and adds a big stereo from the makers of Beats Audio headphones. Imagine Daniel Craig holding a ghetto blaster and you're along the right lines.

It keeps the chunky, off-road capable tyres and tall stance of the Trekking, but on the inside there's a multi-speaker sound system that includes a subwoofer for deeper, more powerful bass notes.

Even playing music through a basic Bluetooth connection the quality is surprisingly good.

Fiat has chosen to squeeze as much potential for fun as possible into its new range of cars, setting them up not just as everyday tools but as essential parts of a lifestyle, and it's the lifestyle they're starting to sell.

Looker

Special colour schemes and red detailing throughout the car make this probably the best-looking of all the 500Ls that have come to the market.

Frankly it's a smashing-looking not-so-little thing, and a car that most young families would be over the moon to have outside their houses.

You might have noticed how many 500Ls are on British roads already, bought by people graduating from the funky and cute 500 into the equally customisable but more family-friendly L version. Tapping into the lifestyle angle is doing Fiat sterling service, and the Beats Edition is a worthy flagship.

The boot floor is pretty high, but don't let that put you off. There's still a load of room in there for everyday stuff, even if it's maybe too plush a car to want to try to squeeze a St Bernard into the back.

Families will just want to have a nosey around to see if it's big enough for their own lifestyles.

On the practicality front, the Trekking platform comes with chunky semi-winter tyres as standard, giving the Beats Edition a huge grip advantage when temperatures take a plunge. When snow and ice arrive, you'll be grateful for this rubber.

Punch

Mild-mannered, easy to drive and surprisingly comfortable are the defining characteristics, although an honorary mention goes to the Beats Audio stereo system, which, while it can't touch the Meridian and Naim packages in Jaguars and Bentleys, makes a brilliant fist of giving your music a bit more punch.

The new 120-horsepower 1.6-litre diesel engine is a star, too, using new turbocharger technology to make itself much, much quieter and more refined than its predecessors.

Good visibility is yours thanks to plenty of glass and a high seating position, which also makes the Beats easy to park.

If there's a spanner in the works, it's the price. There was probably a large pot of money sent to Beats Audio at some stage and Fiat needs to make that back, so next to the 500L Trekking the Beats looks a little bit overpriced.

That said, there are enough neat details and styling touches to make some buyers fall for the looks enough to want to splash out.

The family that revolves around music would love this. Whether it's classical or hip-hop, the Beats Audio system pumps out the tunes with that 'wow factor'. In this class of car there aren't many other options with great stereos, so anyone who loves turning their favourite music up should start forming an orderly queue.

If this car was a house party, it would be Noel's: loud, entertaining and everyone's invited.

God saw you getting tired, a cure was not to be, so He put His arms around you and whispered 'come with Me'.

With tearful eyes we watched you, we watched you fade away, although we loved you dearly, we could not make you stay.

A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands now rest, God broke our hearts to prove to us, He only takes the best.

God bless, Love Mom and Dad.

DAWSON
Simon
Brother

God looked around His Garden and found an empty place, He then looked down upon the earth and saw your tired face, He put His arms around you and lifted you to rest, God's garden must be beautiful He always takes the best.

He knew that you were suffering, He knew you were in pain, He knew that you would never get well on earth again. He saw the roads were getting rough and the hills were hard to climb, so He closed your weary eyelids and whispered peace be thine.

It broke our hearts to lose you but you didn't go alone, for part of us went with you the day God called you home.

Love from Sister Joanne, Paul, Nephew Ashley, Nieces Chelsea and Kirsty.

Newcastle too quick to handle in semi defeat

Newcastle 46 Burntwood 10
Staffs Intermediate Cup – semi-final

BURNTWOOD may have won both league encounters this season but it was the Potteries' side who forward to play Handsworth in the final at Stoke on Trent RFC on May 4.

Although the contest was closer than the scoreline suggests, Newcastle possessed too much pace in attack and defence for Burntwood.

Rugby

The opening 10 minutes provided free flowing rugby with the hosts testing the Burntwood defence on both flanks. Finally, they worked the ball wide left for a try near the corner flag.

A patient build-up produced a scrum under the posts five metres out for the visitors.

Aza Dunet, Lloyd Shelley and Will Peach drove for the line in turn but each was held up. The resulting scrum to Newcastle was hastily cleared to keep the pressure on but an infringement cost Burntwood their first promising position.

Jack Neal and Dunet took play back into home territory but the ensuing line out was taken by the hosts and they cleared their lines.

The match turned decisively in Newcastle's favour on the half hour mark when they ran in two long range tries in two minutes. Both came from an overthrown line out with the ball moved swiftly to the left winger to touch down. Both were converted to make it 19-0.

Peach pulled three points back with a well-struck penalty five minutes from half time. The second period began with Burntwood probing in the opposition half but the home right winger broke away. His kick ahead looked as though it would be covered by Brett Taylor but a wicked bounce saw the ball go back over his head to the winger, who scored in the corner. The conversion attempt struck a post and stayed out.

Just three minutes later the home scrum half took off from a scrum 30 metres out to sprint to the right corner for a converted try for 31-3. Two minutes later it was 34-3 courtesy of a penalty goal.

Burntwood tried to hit back but when they freed right winger Tommy Cooper he was well tackled into touch with one man to beat.

However, the visitors built pressure in the home half, testing the Newcastle defence with inside passes until scrum half Taylor burst through to the posts from the 22 for a try converted by Peach with 20 minutes left.

Newcastle hit back with two more tries, one in the corner where the conversion attempt once again went wide off the post and a converted one under the posts.

Burntwood's Craig Seedhouse runs into trouble during their semi-final defeat to Newcastle

Open day to launch season for bowls

HAGLEY Park Bowls Club, Rugeley is kicking off for this summer's bowling season with a club open day on Saturday, April 12.

The club will open from 1pm and is inviting non-members to visit to try the game of bowls for free.

Club Chairman Enoch Dunning said: "We are a family-friendly club and always looking for new members. Visitors will be welcome to come along to our open day; meet our members; inspect our facilities and have a game of bowls, and if they are a novice tuition will be available."

The club is off Western Springs Road, Rugeley next to the youth centre and parking is at the rear of the club off Burnthill Lane.

The club was formed around 1940 and has an active membership, which enjoys both social and competition bowling throughout the year.

The club enters teams into local crown green bowling leagues and during the year runs club competitions for members. New members are always welcome.

Aikido teacher meets masters

A MARTIAL arts instructor from Cheslyn Hay has been rubbing shoulders with some of the world's masters after being invited to a gathering in Sweden.

The town of Markaryd played host to more than 120 martial art students alongside some of the world's top masters.

Aikido teacher Tony J Brown (6th Dan) from Black Star Aikido was there by special invitation. Brown joined the line up of masters as they were introduced to around 120 students. These masters included two 10th Dans, the highest level and 6th,7th and 8th Dans teaching their fighting arts from aiki styles, kenpo, Ju Jutsu, military combat to pressure points and throwing techniques.

People had gathered there from all over Europe including from the UK Germany, Poland, Denmark and France.

Brown said: "It was a great honour for me to represent the UK and meet so many excellent teachers.

It was a brilliant atmosphere and despite the obvious language barriers everyone was able to communicate through the universal language of martial art training."

FA taken to task on shirts

THE Football Association has forced to defend themselves after the new England shirts went on sale for an eye-watering £90.

Shadow Sports Minister Clive Efford hit out at the pricing, saying it was "disappointing" while Stan Collymore and Joey Barton called it "a joke" and "taking the mickey". The most expensive Nike 'match shirts' will be identical to the ones worn at this summer's World Cup finals while the cheaper replica ones will cost 'just' £60.

The FA said it avoids any involvement with kit manufacturers on pricing.

The £90 shirts have enhanced "cooling technology" compared to the £60 shirts, say Nike.

Wolverhampton'sBill Jones scored. Another seven pointer and Willenhall were one point behind. Another five point try from Harley lead to a three point penalty.

Ball boy duties are fun for pupils

PUPILS from Chase View Primary School, Rugeley, were ball boys forWalsall Football Cub's League One match against Shrewsbury on Saturday at the Banks's Stadium.

The day began with a training session and match on the pitch lead by coaches from Walsall's community team.

After a briefing and practice, the children, along with joined their friends from Holy Name Catholic Primary School, Great Barr, welcomed the teams onto the field and spent 90 minutes helping the game run smoothly.

Walsall won 1-0 in front of a crowd of more than 4,000. Pupils had a close view of the goal, two red cards and everyone had at least one touch of the ball with some having considerably more.

At the end of the game the children were congratulated by Walsall community director Adam Davy for their terrific enthusiasm and behaviour.

A signed Walsall ball was awarded to Jake Cartwright for showing terrific attitude and effort.

All those children who took part are looking forward to returning to the stadium in later in the year to be ball boys and again when Walsall's new season begins.

The goal gave Cannock the boost to step up their game. The equaliser came before half time with a quickly taken free hit from Gemma Brookes to Sarah Drayton-Chana, who found Sophie Tibbetts waiting to deflect the ball into the roof of the net to put Cannock on level terms.

After the half time break Cannock continued to press and it was clear they wanted it more. With 15 minutes to go Drayton-Chana won a short corner. The rebound from the initial shot fell to Player of the Match Jess Smith, who scored a fantastic goal to give Cannock the win that kept them in Division 1 for next season.

Pitmen power on in bid for play-offs

Stockport County 0
Hednesford Town 1

HEDNESFORD Town kept up their charge for a play-off place with a 1-0 victory over former Football League side Stockport County at Edgeley Park thanks to a solitary strike from Charlie Anagho-Ntamark.

The Pitmen started brightly and forced two early efforts inside the opening five minutes. First Tom Thorley fired a freekick right down the throat of goalkeeper Ian Ormson before Darren Campion flashed a cross across the box which Anagho-Ntamark was unable to get on the end of.

They grabbed the only goal of the game in the 12th minute.

New loan signing Marvin Johnson surged to the byline and his left wing cross was slotted home by Anagho-Ntamark from 10 yards out.

The start of the second half saw Hednesford firmly camped inside their own half and County's Ian Howard almost took advantage.

The Pitmen almost went 2-0 ahead in the 68th minute but Ben Bailey's header struck the crossbar, via a good Ormson's save. Paul Sullivan and Danny Gloverhad late chances.

Scholars let two-goal lead slip in away draw

Carlton Town 2 Chasetown2

CHASETOWN should have been out of sight before Carlton clawed back a 2-0 deficit in a mid-table encounter.

After a dominant start, Chasetown took the lead in the 13th minute when Simon Brown was fouled and in emphatic style smashed the resultant penalty straight down the middle himself.

Football

Jack Farmer headed a whisker wide two minutes later, before Chasetown doubled their lead when Nick Wellecomme's strength held off a defender and he fired beyond Jonathan Viscosi and in off the right-hand post.

As Farmer had done minutes earlier, Tesfa Robinson was also agonisingly close with a header.

Then Brown and Wellecomme combined for Jack Lees, who missed the target from close range with an effort he perhaps hit too hard.

Wellecomme was the instigator of much of what Chasetown were doing well and his neat pass to Joe Halsall saw the midfielder narrowly wide of the target – and there would have been no-one who could have complained if Chasetown were 6-0 up at this point.

The Millers pulled one back from a set piece on 25 minutes. Alex Troke's free kick eluded everyone except Grant Brindley, who had pulled away at the far post and steered a header beyond Danny Watson.

Chasetown kept attacking and Viscosi denied Lees, Brown and Wellecomme, before the home side drew level just after the half hour. Bradley Munn's cross found Brindley, whose close range shot was kept out by Watson, before the second phase of the attack saw Jordan Villums cross for skipper Alex Troke, who pinged a lovely shot into the bottom corner.

Viscosi kept out Lees from getting his first Chasetown goal with Wellecomme firing the rebound over the bar as the Scholars looked to regain the lead.

In the closing minutes of the first halfTroke's free kick crashed against Watson's crossbar.

Full back Farmer went close with two more headers from corners, but the second half failed to live up to the dominance that Chasetown had in the first.

Wellecomme forced another save from Viscosi before being replaced by Luke Chapman, who almost scored with his first touch.

Stretching to reach the ball he got a toe on it which deceived Viscosi, who reacted well to push it away.

Chasetown ended the game with 10 men after Aaron Hooton broke clear and Slater was adjudged to have fouled the striker when he was clean through on goal.

Grant Brindley fires home for the Scholars who saw their lead whittled away during the match against Carlton

Both teams suffered relegations last season and are looking to bounce back. But they need new players to help boost both sides.

Vlaar gives backing to team mate

RON Vlaar is tipping Leandro Bacuna to hit back from his defensive nightmare and urged the critics to go easy.

The Villa skipper insisted the makeshift right-back should not carry the can for the claret and blues' problems at the back.

They have shipped eight goals in two games, losing 4-1 to Stoke and Manchester United, with Bacuna struggling in both, but Vlaar believes the doubters should lay off his fellow Dutchman.

He said: "He is doing well.

"It's not easy and he's not even a right full-back originally.

"He is improving and he is doing good work but sometimes you just have a less of a good game."

Double injury blow for Wolves

WOLVES have been left counting the cost of a double wing blow after James Henry joined Bakary Sako on the sidelines.

Henry lasted just 11 minutes of Tuesday night's 0-0 draw at Stevenage after suffering a groin injury and has been all but ruled out of Saturday's visit of Peterborough.

The former Millwall wideman joins Sako, who has a toe injury, in the treatment room at a time when Wolves need all the bodies they can to secure automatic promotion with six games left.

Henry, who has scored nine goals this season, and 11-goal Sako have contributed the second and third highest tallies for Wolves behind departed 13-goal top scorer Leigh Griffiths.

Head coach Kenny Jackett said: "I can't see Henry being right on Saturday but you never know. We'll see how he is."

Jackett admits Wolves must find a different way to win.

"We've had such a good run with no injuries but we have to just find another mix now," he said. "We didn't have the natural balance we've had recently with Henry and Sako out."

Tuesday's point edged Wolves to within a maximum of 10 points of automatic promotion."

Lockmen take share of spoils

Wellington Ams 2 W'hall 2

WILLENHALL hit back to take a point from Wellington Amateurs and boost their fight to stay in the West Midlands League Premier Division.

However, after leading for an hour, they will be disappointed not to have taken all three. Both sides had gone close before Willenhall took a sixth-minute lead through a Craig Sudlow free-kick. The Ams looked dangerous with two quick strikes but their final touch was poor while the Lockmen went close through Tony Clift's overhead kick, Michael Clarke's 25-yard effort and a Jake Morgan heade.

The home side levelled on 65 minutes through Warren Davies and took the lead with nine minutes left through Jamie King but a late penalty won and converted by Fuller secured the Lockmen a point.

Patched-up side left in precarious position

Heath Hayes 0 Heather St.John 1

ANOTHER disappointing result against bottom side Saints puts Hayes in a precarious position as they try to avoid the drop fromThe Midland Alliance.

Again manager Steve Taylor was forced to field a patched-up side as the team's injury crisis deepens. The effort was there but sadly the ability was not.

The visitors, with a strong wind at their backs, had the better of the early play but the revamped home rearguard with Ben Maddox excellent at its heart was coping well.

Football

Hayes looked as if they had taken the lead when Tom Baggott's powerful header from a Dan Scragg corner appeared to be in but somehow Josh McPherson kept the ball out.

Both sides struggled to cope with the windy conditions and the tension in the players was obvious. The half ended in stalemate.

The deciding goal came on 49 minutes when an innocuous-looking cross from Mitchel Woodbine was met by Saints skipper Dan Chapman whose 20-yard shot on the turn looped over keeper Ryan Goodwin into the net.

Hayes came close to an immediate reply when substitute Richie Worth hit a tremendous volley only for Saints keeper George Woodward to brilliantly tip over the bar.

With the home side now controlling the game and putting the visitors under constant pressure it looked inevitable that the breakthrough would come but without a quality finisher in the side all the effort was in vain.

When they did find the target they found keeper Woodward in superlative form.

Late on Saints had a good chance to make the game safe but Goodwin brilliantly saved Jake Healy's effort.

Hayes should have equalised in injury time when Tom Baggott, a superb example to his colleagues with his unstinting effort, had a shot pushed away by Woodward but Adam Langley fired the loose ball wide.

It is important that Hayes get their best team out for the remaining games as hope is not lost and`as results have proved when they are at their strongest they are more than capable of avoiding the drop.

PITMEN STAGE A LATE FIGHTBACK

Hednesford Town 2 Brackley Town 2

HEDNESFORD Town struck twice in the last five minutes to earn a dramatic point against fellow play-off hopefuls Brackley Town at Keys Park.

The Pitmen have been known for their comebacks while under the leadership of Rob Smith and this memorable midweek game would prove no different as Hednesford managed to make it four games unbeaten at this crucial period of the season.

Football

The home side had looked lively in the opening exchanges.

However, they suffered a blow after just eight minutes when star midfielder Jamey Osborne was forced off with a suspected dislocated shoulder.

More bad news was soon to follow for Hednesford as they fell behind in the 32nd minute.

Unleashed

Brackley midfielder Eddie Odhiambo drove forward and he unleashed an unstoppable effort from 25-yards which found the back of the net via the underside of the crossbar.

Hednesford almost drew themselves level right on the stroke of halftime, however Brackley keeper Billy Turley made an excellent save to deny Wayne Riley to keep his side ahead.

The home side continued to press after the break and were unlucky not to level when Marvin Johnson's low driven cross was blasted high and wide at the back post by Robbie Thompson-Brown.

They would soon suffer a sucker punch though as in the 69th minute Brackley's Glen Walker drilled home a free kick into the bottom corner from 18 yards out to make it 2-0.

Rob Smith made two attacking changes and one of these finally paid off in the 86th minute as the lively Johnson got down the left and his cross was tapped home at the back post by Paul Sullivan.

The team were visibly lifted by this and soon found an equaliser as the clock ticked over into the 90th minute.

A ball into the box was not dealt with by Turley and his tame punch was neatly headed home by Riley to earn a share of the spoils.

Pitmen's Paul McCone gets head and shoulders above the Brackley defence

Hewitt is up for a challenge

TROY HEWITT says he can be the man to fill the boots of Walsall top scorer Craig Westcarr.

The 24-year-old is vying with Michael Ngoo for the right to lead the Saddlers line while 15-goal top scorer Westcarr serves a three-game ban.

Manager Dean Smith has challenged both to "step up to the plate" and Hewitt says he is more than ready to answer the call.

"You have to always be prepared for a situation like now," he said. "If you aren't watching what is going on in training you won't be ready to step in.

"I've just been trying to give my all and try to give a reason for getting another chance in the team. If I'm not confident in myself then no-one else will be."

Westcarr is suspended for the next three games, starting with Saturday's trip to Port Vale, following a red card in last weekend's win over Shrewsbury.

Hewitt, who joined the Saddlers last summer has scored just once this term. Ngoo is yet to break his scoring duck since signing on the last day of the January transfer window."

Dorrans primed for a key role

PEPE MEL has singled out Graham Dorrans for a key role in Albion's battle for Premier League survival.

It marks a dramatic change of fortunes for the Scotland international.

But the revival of his career has been one of the positive features of the Spanish head coach's reign so far at the Hawthorns.
